As Prelude to Soviet Talks

Sweeping Review Seen Of Foreign Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is expected to begin almost immediately a sweeping review of U.S. foreign and defense policies to determine how he can work toward worldwide peace and cooperation as set forth in his inaugural address.

Diplomats predict the survey of international relations and the development of new or revised programs will lead to early, high-level consultation with Allied governments as a prelude to negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The difficult task now before the new administration is to devise programs by which these general statements of purpose can be translated into specific proposals for action.

The same thing holds true for Kennedy's pledge to work in close unity with Allied countries, to support the freedom of the new nations of Asia and Africa, to

Buffalo U. May Join NY System If Plans Work

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The University of Buffalo, with a physical plant valued at $51 million, will become a unit of the State University of New York "if the necessary arrangements can be resolved," it was announced Friday.

Chancellor Clifford C. Furnas of the University of Buffalo and Dr. Thomas M. Hamilton, president of the State University, said legal and fiscal studies would start immediately.

All units involved of the university's graduate and undergraduate schools and divisions are involved in the proposal.

A subcommittee of the University of Buffalo Council recommended unanimously that it be authorized to "negotiate with leaders of the State University of New York on the possibility, and with the intention, that the university become a part of that unit if the necessary arrangements can be resolved."

With an endowment of nearly $27 million, the University of Buffalo has been an independent institution since it was founded in 1846. It has a student body of more than 10,000 and a faculty and staff of 1,500, which would make it the largest unit of the state system.

Dr. Furnas said the university would continue to expand if it be-

Khrushchev, Thompson Talk; Move Seen for Kennedy Parley

Free World Hails Talk Of Kennedy

Communists Hope Tensions to Ease With JFK Rule

LONDON (AP) — The non-Communist world today hailed President Kennedy's inaugural speech as a stirring message of hope and challenge. It gave special cheers to his bid for renewed East-West negotiations.

Hopes that Kennedy can ease cold war tensions were also expressed by three top Communist leaders — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, East Germany's Walter Ulbricht and Yugoslavia's President Tito. In other Red sectors Kennedy was denounced or ignored.

Fidel Ready—Own Terms

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro greeted Kennedy's speech with an offer to make peace—but on his own terms. He said the United States must change its "mistaken and absurd" policy to bring his regime before any reconciliation is possible.

Neutralist President Sukarno of Indonesia quickly sent a congratulatory message, saying he was sure "the United States will enjoy the blessing of peace and prosperity" under Kennedy's "able and vigorous leadership."

Sukarno said he was convinced warm relations between the two nations will continue.

The British press seized on Kennedy's phrase, "Let us never negotiate out of fear, but let us never fear to negotiate."

"This is a splendid motto for all of us," the laborite Daily Herald said. "And now we await the response of the Communist world."

Reaction to the speech in other non-Communist capitals was favorable. In the United Nations, the consensus among diplomats, Asian, African, Communist and Western alike, was "very good."

Swift Vote Due for Cabinet; GOP Joins in Praising Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy is off to a flying start with a Democratic-controlled Congress on which he is depending to pass his legislative program.

Although there is some minor commotion over the timing, the Senate appears likely to give swift approval to the new chief executive's Cabinet and other top appointments. That approval may come today.

Dazzles Both Parties

His domestic program will start rolling with scheduled Senate consideration within a few days of a bill to provide federal aid for depressed areas plagued by chronic unemployment.

Kennedy dazzled Republicans and Democrats alike with a 14-minute inaugural address Friday in which he told the world crisply that America will "pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty."

Kennedy did not deal in any specifics or recommend congressional action. That will come later, presumably in a series of individual messages.

His inaugural talk drew approving comment from both Republicans and Democrats.

Message of Hope: Dirksen

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said Kennedy's summation of America's position in the world was "a very compact message of hope."

Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House minority leader, was "much impressed."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called Kennedy's talk "magnificent."

Assistant Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said the new President had laid out a blueprint for "an administration of vitality."

Robert F. Kennedy, his brother's choice for attorney general, thought the message "touched everybody." Adlai Stevenson, nominee for ambassador to the United

U. S. Storm Toll Is 63; -30 in State

Clear and cold weather greeted most of the Eastern seaboard today after Friday's howling blizzard that staggered a wide area and left a tragic death toll of 63 in its wake.

Pennsylvania led the section in storm deaths with 20 while New England counted another 11.

New York State, meanwhile, continued in its "ice box" weather as the storm effects, now moving out to sea, sent temperatures dipping as low as 30 degrees below zero in the state. Fair and continued cold weather was on the menu for the state with some scattered snow flurries as an added attraction, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

-30 at Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie reported the minus 30 reading early today.

New York City, nearly paralyzed by a blizzard and a widespread transportation strike, had its coldest morning of the winter, 8 above zero reading.

Up to 29 inches of snow, with drifts to 10 feet had closed schools, stores and factories, trapped thousands in automobiles and postponed public events Friday.

The sub-zero readings today ranged across the state.

Other sub-zero temperatures included: Albany and Elmira, -14; Sin-

'Deep Freeze' Follows Snow

Two Area Deaths Are Attributed to Storm

A howling blizzard that staggered much of the eastern seaboard moved out of the north-east early today, leaving a tragic death toll in its wake—at least two of these deaths in the Kingston area apparently attributable to the storm.

The two area deaths were reported after victims had been out shoveling snow.

They were: George McKeon, 45, of 11 Peach Lane, Windmere, Saugerties.

John C. Bucklew, 32, of 21 Bennett Avenue, Saugerties.

3rd Dies at Wheel

A third area death resulted when the driver of a Richfield Oil Co. truck died at the wheel of his vehicle as he was proceeding south on Route 9W through the rockcut entering the Village of Port Jervis shortly before midnight.

The death toll resulting from the storm was reported nationally at 63, with Pennsylvania accounting for 20 of these, New England for 11.

—18 in County
Sub-zero temperatures were reported throughout New York State. Poughkeepsie reported 30 below zero. Temperatures dropped as low as 18 below zero in Ulster County.

All temperatures throughout the county at Freeman check points were well below the zero mark in the early hours of the morning. However, none reached the unofficial reading of 36 below at Clinton Corners, Dutchess County.

Low points were in the High Woods-Mt. Marion area where an unofficial 18 below was recorded. Town of Ulster recorded 15 below and Blue Mountain Reservoir in the northern part of the county 14 below zero.

—12 Unofficial in City
The overnight low registered on The Freeman thermometer was 12 below. The unofficial temperature at Ellenville was also reported at 12 below zero.

The unofficial overnight low at Saugerties Municipal Building was reported at 8 below. Browns Station at the Ashokan Reservoir also recorded an overnight

2 Discuss Red-U. S. Problems

Return to Warmth Of Camp David Ties Is Stressed

MOSCOW (AP)—Fresh on the heels of the inauguration of President Kennedy, Premier Khrushchev called in U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson for a two-hour talk today. An embassy spokesman said they discussed "Soviet-American problems."

No further details were given about the subjects of the talks. It was presumed that Khrushchev pressed for an early meeting with the new president in an effort to establish a warmer relationship such as he felt he had worked out with President Eisenhower at the time of the Camp David meeting.

Both Have Interpreters

Khrushchev had with him Vasili Kuznetsov, deputy foreign minister, and A.S. Dobrynin, chief of the American section of the foreign office.

Each had interpreters, although much of the conversation was in Russian directly between Khrushchev and Thompson, who speaks relatively good Russian.

Sends Kennedy Telegram

Khrushchev did not waste any time getting in touch with the new president. He and President Leonid Brezhnev sent Kennedy a telegram Friday expressing hope "we can remove existing suspicion and distrust and grow the seed of friendship and businesslike cooperation between our two peoples."

The Camp David spirit strangled the U2 incident of May 1 last year. The long-projected Paris summit conference died before it began in mid-May when Khrushchev walked out, refusing to meet Eisenhower unless the U.S. president apologized and made amends. Eisenhower refused to bend.

Since then Khrushchev has repeated that he would not meet Eisenhower again, but would be glad to have talks with the next president.

The press has been full of expressions of hope that better political and commercial relations could be worked out between the two countries, although Khrushchev in his formal declarations on party policies has never minced words in indicating that he hopes to see the capitalist world, including America, come tumbling down.

The meeting between Thompson and the premier took place in the Kremlin.

Explosion Rocks Natural Gas Plant In Ventura Area

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—An explosion rocked a natural gas compression plant east of here early today, starting a huge fire that raced along the main supply line and threatened for a time to spread to nearby oil fields.

But firemen were able to shut off the flow of gas before the fast-moving flames—burning both at the ground and in the line—reached the fields.

About two hours later the fire was still burning in Hall Canyon, scene of the blast, but firemen said it was under control and would soon burn itself out.

Attendees at Ventura County General Hospital said nine firefighters were treated for burns. The condition of two men was listed as serious.

Cause of the explosion was still under investigation.

Fun Is Over, JFK Has Full Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The inaugural fun is over for President Kennedy.

This is his first full day in office, and even though it's a Saturday—normally a light day at the White House, Kennedy planned a full, work schedule.

He was out late again Friday night with another round of merry-making, but his schedule today called for a meeting with the White House staff at 9 a.m., and a luncheon date with the National Democratic Committee.

If the Senate gives quick approval to Kennedy's Cabinet selections, they will be sworn in at a White House ceremony late today.

And tonight Kennedy is to be honored guest at a dinner of the Alfalfa Club, a fun-loving social organization.

You'd think, after the pace Kenedy has been keeping these past few days, that he'd be ready for a quiet evening in his new home. But that doesn't take into account the amazing Kennedy energy.

His inauguration day offered a perfect example.

After his inaugural address, he watched the big parade in his honor that went on and on until 6:14 p.m., a full hour after darkness had fallen.

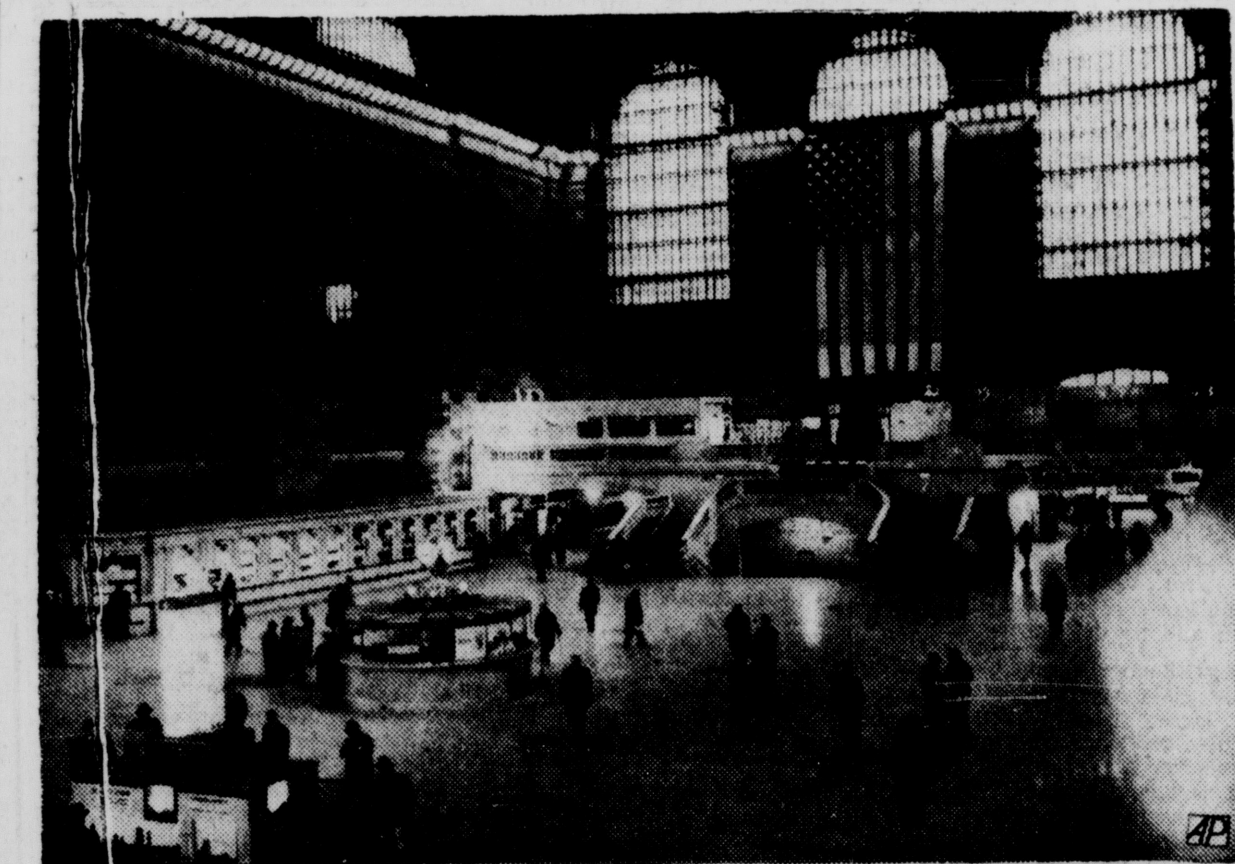

Since it was bitter cold, and the wind made it seem even colder, most of the spectators, including those who paid $25 apiece for their seats, fled to warmer havens.

Kennedy not only stayed through every minute of it, he seemed really to enjoy it.

He got a bang out of a Buffalo Bill type character who rode a bull in the parade.

He admired the PT-boat similar to the one he once commanded.

COMMUTERS WERE ELSEWHERE—New York's Grand Central Station presented this relatively empty aspect this week after the shutdown of New York Central and New Haven railroad operations. The halt in service, which left thousands of commuters scrambling for alternate transportation into the city, was brought on when striking harbor craft crewmen threw pickets around the station. Pedestrians are taking shortcut through the terminal. (AP Wirephoto)

Five Inaugural Balls Gala Affairs But There's Just No Room to Dance

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy went to five inaugural balls Friday night and announced at the windup that he had yet to see anybody dance.

He had a right to be surprised. According to the dictionary, a ball is a large assembly for social dancing.

But, then, Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline didn't dance either. And Mrs. Kennedy went home after the third ball, leaving her husband and Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson to carry the ball—as it were.

The thousands of guests who paid $25 to $40 each to come to the social highlight of the four-day inaugural festivities followed protocol on wearing white tie and formal gowns.

The Inaugural Committee provided the best setting it could: hotel ballrooms and a gaily decorated—though huge and barnlike—armory. There were society orchestras, Army herald trumpets, royal blue and gold presidential boxes, all the necessary ingredients.

But, the message about dancing never got through the crush.

At the armory, where 45 minutes of the ball was carried to television, dancing was called for "in the name of the President."

Those in TV audience "want to find us dancing at the ball," the master of ceremonies pleaded just before bedtime.

Meyer Davis and his orchestra played "I Could Have Danced All Night."

But the majority of close to 20,000 ballgoers just wouldn't go along. And, in all fairness, the dance floor was so crowded at times that they couldn't have danced if they wanted to.

There were certain main objectives at all five balls—to get a close look at the President, to be able to claim the distinction of having been here and, perhaps, to take a snapshot of the newly inaugurated President.

The guests could say they had champagne—even if it was served in paper cups. And they could eat or take home as a souvenir a piece of the 5,617 pounds of inaugural fruit cake.

Tugmen Reject Rocky's Plea for 10-Day Truce

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking railroad tugmen rejected early today Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's truce plea in the 12-day harbor walkout which has stalled commuters and imperiled city food and fuel supplies.

Negotiations recessed shortly before midnight Friday with a new meeting set for today.

Rockefeller had urged members of the three striking marine unions to join in a 10-day armistice "in the interest of the people of the City and the State of New York."

The unions wired the governor that the truce was "unacceptable" because "it only serves the interests of the railroads and is against the interest of all railroad employees and their families."

In another telegram to the New York City Central Labor Council, the unions said Rockefeller's plea was "a danger to accepted collective bargaining procedures affecting the entire trade union movement."

The walkout now revolves around railroad demands for eventual reduction in the size of five-man crews aboard their 51 harbor tugs.

The unions — the International Seafarers Union, the Marine Engineers Association, and the Master, Mates and Pilots Union—demand that crews stay at present strength.

The tugboat workers — 660 of them—have managed with skinny picket lines to tie up the New York Central Railroad as far west as Cleveland, the New Haven between

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Faith plays an important part in the busy lives of Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon and his bodyguard-chauffeur, Bill Newell.

Bill, a state policeman and former Marine boxer, not only drives the official car with a steady hand but scans the crowd during the governor's public appearances and examines suspicious mail.

Despite their many engagements and official duties, the two of them find time during trips for occasional roadside prayer or for religious discussions and Bible reading in hotel rooms.

"Following Jesus Christ has been an experience of increasing challenge, adventure and happiness," says the governor. "No matter what field we are in, we are called upon to give our complete allegiance to Him."

Bill tells me that faith has given him an inner strength "deeper and more complete" in every respect than before, and adds the quotation, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

Donegan to Officiate

Bishop of Albany To Be Enthroned On February 22nd

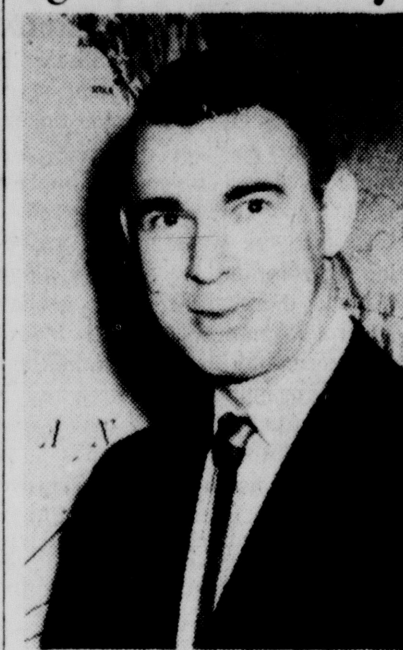

The Rt. Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, will induct, invest, and enthrone the Rt. Rev. Allan W. Brown as fifth Bishop of the Diocese of Albany at televised ceremonies February 22, in the Cathedral of All Saints, Albany.

Bishop Donegan, who is president of the Second Province, will be acting for the Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, the Most Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger. The Second Province comprises the eighth dioceses in New York and New Jersey.

The Diocese of Albany was set apart in 1868 from the then larger Diocese of New York.

The enthronement ceremonies will begin at the west door of the Cathedral when Bishop Brown knocks three times requesting permission to enter. The Dean, the Very Rev. David S. Ball, will open the door and allow the Bishop to enter. The certificate and consents relating to Bishop Brown's election will be read in the narthex, and after a procession to the sanctuary of the Cathedral, the induction, investiture, and the actual enthronement will take place. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated by Dean Ball.

1st Baptist Men To Hear Travel Agent Wednesday

HERBERT K. GREENWALD
Guest speaker for the dinner meeting of the Men's Club of First Baptist Church next Wednesday night, Jan. 25, will be Herbert K. Greenwald, vice president and general manager of Greenwald's Travel Service, Inc., of Kingston.

Greenwald will speak and present a travelogue on England. Dinner at 6:30
A spaghetti and meatball dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Reservations for the dinner and program must be made with members of the club by Sunday, Arthur T. Pedersen, ticket chairman, reported today. Greenwald, who is no stranger to local organizations, having given upwards of 50 lectures in the past four years throughout the Hudson Valley area, was graduated from Kingston High School in 1935 and the University of Pennsylvania, Wharton School, in 1939.

Won National Honor

In 1960, Greenwald was awarded a plaque for outstanding sales performance and contributions to the development of U. S. civil aviation. He received the plaque from Gordon Bain, vice president of sales for Northwest Orient Airlines. The honorary award was presented to only eight other travel agents in the northeastern United States.

He took over as superintendent of the Florida Transportation Company for the years of 1940 and 1941 and in the following year entered military service, serving through 1945 with the U. S. Army Transportation Corps in England, North Africa and Italy. He was awarded a bronze star in 1945.

Greenwald assumed his post as manager of the local travel agency in 1946.

Has Visited Many Lands
In recent years he has visited England, France, Italy, Switzerland, Mexico, Venezuela, Hawaii, Bermuda, Nassau and virtually every island of the Caribbean on several occasions.

The local agency general manager has served as a member of the national air committee and national by-laws committee of the American Society of Travel Agents and as secretary and treasurer of the New York State Chapter of ASTA.

Fraternally—Greenwald is a member of Kiwanis, American Legion, B'nai B'rith, American Society of Travel Agents, Bon Vivants (Men of Travel), the Mid-Hudson Traffic Club, International Travel Association, Springs Lake Fire Department and is a trustee of Temple Emanuel.

Greenwald is married to the former Miss Louis Kramer of Kingston. They have three sons, Michael, Marc and Eric.

Two Resolutions Voted by Dentists

The Ulster-Greene Dental Study Club Wednesday night took action on two recent resolutions passed by the American Dental Association.

The organization approved the move to make use of mouth protectors mandatory for school football players and others engaged in other body-contact athletic activities. It was recommended that agencies dealing with school sports be urged to require the wearing of a mouth protector at practice sessions and games.

They also approved a resolution to support a strong program of health education as an integral part of school and college curriculum.

The clinician for the meeting was Dr. Gerson Cohen, prosthodontist at Veterans Administration Hospital, New York City.

Officers for the coming year will be nominated at the next meeting February 15. Present officers are Dr. Harold Newman, president; Dr. Walter Meyer, vice president and Dr. Bernard Cohen, secretary-treasurer.

Woodstock Association Sets Annual Meeting January 27

Two prominent Woodstock residents—Harris Gordon and Mrs. James Mulligan—have been nominated for directors of the Woodstock Association. Their nominations will be voted on at the association's annual meeting, Friday, Jan. 27, at 8 p. m., in the van Rijn study on Hasbrouck Lane, Woodstock.

Gordon is president of Gordon associates. Mrs. Mulligan is a well-known actress under the name of Sara Mulligan. She is the wife of James Mulligan of Glasco Turnpike, a cartoonist for the New Yorker magazine. Elbert C. Varney and Howard Koch have been re-nominated for directors. The terms for Mrs. Mulligan, Varney and Gordon will expire in January, 1964. The term of Alf Evers as a director expires in January, 1963.

The following directors will continue for the terms indicated: terms expiring January, 1962: Alvin E. Moscovitz, J. C. van Rijn, Benjamin L. Webster; terms expiring January, 1963: Houston E. Landis, Jr., Caroline (Mrs. Reginald) Wilson.

Besides the election of directors and transaction of routine business, the Association will amend its certificate of incorporation. The proposed amendment is designed to meet the suggestions of the Internal Revenue Service to assure that contributions to the corporation are deductible for income tax purposes by the contributors. It is the opinion of the directors that the change is of a technical nature and that the basic purpose and activities of the corporation will not be affected thereby.

H.A. Schimmerling Interviews Dean of Austria's Composers

Place: Vienna, 3rd district, Traungasse, 6. Time: October 30, 1960. 5 p. m. I am facing Prof. Dr. Marx, dean of Austria's composers of the first half of our century. In his cozy apartment we discuss some of today's musical problems. It was said: "He is the incarnate enemy of bad music." And this is exactly the point where the great problem starts, namely, "what music is good and what is bad?"

What Marx thinks is bad, others say it is good, and vice versa. I, for example, like his "Cartelli Romani," his Spring Sonata and some of his songs; others only shrug their shoulders when discussing these compositions. To my question which compositions he likes best, Marx replies, "my string quartets, though they are quite complicated but not yet chromatic." This answer gave me some clue to why Marx has been minimized by some of our contemporary music cliques. His opinion of what is "complicated" and "not yet chromatic" is seemingly linked to a certain degree of intolerance against what is still more "complicated" than his works and more than chromatic. Yet he is very realistic, benevolent, and open minded in his reviews of, let us say, the Lyric Suite by Alban Berg, Wozzeck, and others. In this connection he coins expressions such as "out-doing Tristan chromatically" in a rather derogatory way. His reserved attitude toward twelve-tone composers is—perhaps unduly (?)—juxtaposed to eulogies about neglected composers such as Schmidt, Bittner and Kienze.

Impressive Figure
Marx, the 78-year-old master, whose impressive physiognomy should be reproduced as portrait or chiseled in marble more often, has retired from his activities as director of the Vienna Academy of Music. He impressed me by his youthful spirit, his excellent memory and straightforwardness. This refers to his personality as human being and composer as well as to his social orientation and political ideas. During the Hitler era, he had the courage to say to his neighbor in a street car "how long will these criminals still rule?" One of the Nazi officials who had great respect for him as a composer sent him an unofficial verbal message: "Tell Mr. Marx he shouldn't talk so loud in the coffee house, otherwise I shall have to arrest him one day." He defied the mighty industrialist Mautner-Markof who spoke nasty words about Marx by declaring publicly: "Mr. Mautner-Markof is only rich and doesn't understand anything of music, but he bought the title of a 'Doctor phil. honoris causa.'"

"Dr. Marx presented me with a copy of his book 'Observations of a Realistic Romanticist.' This is probably the most approximate definition of the personality and the work of Joseph Marx. Romanticism and Realism, two strains which form a style that is entirely his own. Among the four elements of music (melody, harmony, rhythm, tone-color) he gives to melody a preferred position; it is emphasized in his theoretical writings and is reflected in his compositions. This alone would like a declaration of war against our contemporary composers of the super-chromatic and atonal type.

Folklore Is Vital
To Marx's "creed" belongs his belief in folklore being a vital importance to music; he believes in Vienna as the musical capital of the world, saying that "music is the spiritual dialect of the Viennese." Government and schools must pay greatest attention to music education, he says. Some of his sayings became proverbial: "The improvisation of a giant is more valuable than a composition of a dwarf," "culture and money don't go together too often;" "Unfinished Symphony is one of the most finished symphonies" and many more.

Marx also was music critic of Vienna's leading papers, "The New Vienna Journal." His reviews were realistic, sometimes harsh, always constructive; his style amusing, his headlines telling a little story in advance. Read, for example, the two pendant-articles, "The Perfect Conductor" and "The Superfluous Conductor;" "The Future of Opera and the Opera of the Future;" "World Success of Opera—What Is Decisive: Libretto or Music?"

My interview with Dr. Marx was a most pleasant and revealing one hour and a half for me. I wished it would have lasted longer. Space does not permit to say more in this column. But many pages could be written about this personality who as a composer is by far more neglected than those composers whom Marx lists among the neglected ones and who as music theorist, teacher, critic and writer has given to the world cultural contributions of permanent value . . . H. A. SCHIMMERLING."

"In Ellenville, Joseph Levine has a thoroughbred sorrel mare; 16 hands, with a sorrel 10 months old filly sired by a sorrel quarter horse. Both are for sale. Levine doesn't like horse shows which drag on after 6 p. m., to which we say amen. . . DONALD TWINE."

PEG LEG BATES

Audition Slated Thursday

Bates Seeks Amateur Talent For Dimes Show January 30

The date for this year's march of Dimes Variety Show is Monday, Jan. 30, at Kingston High School Auditorium.

This was stressed today by Peg Leg Bates, nationally famous stage and television star, who as director, will hold an audition for amateur entertainers Thursday, Jan. 26.

Bates, a Kerhonkson night club owner, said "we hope to have a large number of applicants for the show. I know there is a lot of good talent in the area."

Audition at Auditorium
The hours for auditioning are from 4 to 6 p. m.

Although the show will be staged at the high school, the auditioning session is scheduled for the Kingston Municipal Auditorium on Thursday.

This is the same means of choosing talent used previously by Bates, who has taken an interest in helping at local benefits throughout Ulster County since he became a permanent resident some years ago.

The celebrated dancer, who has one peg leg, believes in helping and encouraging the handicapped.

He recalls the time when as a youngster of 12 he lost his left leg and suffered a crippled hand in a cotton gin accident. He did not let the mishap stop his dancing career, which started at 5.

Helps Others
He vowed at the time to help others stricken in any way and has been faithful to his promise, especially in Ulster County. Bates has appeared and helped with shows whenever invited.

When Addison Jones, county campaign director for the March of Dimes contacted him this year, Bates readily answered yes.

Although he resides at Kerhonkson with his family, the favorite dancer of many, including Ed Sullivan on whose television show he has appeared a number of times, he keeps busy touring the nation.

He's making a special trip back from Chicago for the audition session and the show, which he plans to be bigger and better.

Some Professionals Coming
"We'll mix in some professional talent with the amateurs," Bates said. "There'll be a real night of entertainment Monday, Jan. 30 at the high school," he promised.

Application blanks for the audition have been published in The Freeman, and one accompanying this story for anyone desiring to try out for the March of Dimes show.

Since the National Foundation has expanded its program to cover research on other crippling diseases beside polio, more money than ever is needed this year, Bates said. "So let's really do a job on the Variety Show to help swell the Ulster County contributions fund."

Following is the blank to be filled out and mailed as directed:

March of Dimes Variety Show

Ulster County Chapter of the National Foundation will present its 1961 Variety Show, directed by Peg-Leg Bates, at Kingston High School Auditorium on Monday, Jan. 30. Amateurs desiring to try out at an audition Thursday, Jan. 26, at Kingston Municipal Auditorium from 4 to 6 p. m. are requested to register on the following blank and mail to Addison Jones, 334 Foxhall Avenue, Kingston, N. Y., as soon as possible.

Inaugural Battle

Glare From Sun Troubles Poet

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the colorful inaugural of President Kennedy begins today to fade into memory, one of the incidents that retains its poignancy is the struggle between a glaring sun and poet Robert Frost's 86-year-old eyes.

Frost's part in the inaugural program was part of the new President's tribute to the country's intellectuals. He had invited to his inauguration 155 leading figures in the arts and sciences "in recognition of their importance."

Frost's role was to be the largest. Like Kennedy a New Englander and a Pulitzer Prize winner, Frost was to recite "The Gift Outright," written more than 20 years ago. He also had written especially for the occasion a longer poem expressing gratification that the arts had been recognized in the ceremony.

Bundled up in a heavy overcoat and scarf, Frost, hatless, his white hair swept by the cold wind took his place at the podium and announced, "first a dedication."

Strong sunlight beat down on the lectern. Frost managed a few words, squinted at the paper in front of him and read a few words more. He fumbled through six of the 42 typewritten lines, his words interspersed with long pauses, before muttering "I can't see in this light."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, seated nearby, jumped to his feet and extended his silk top hat to try to shield the sun. Another bystander placed his hat to Frost's right, between the lectern and the sun.

Some of the platform shifted and a nervous laugh came from the crowd.

Frost still could not make his way. He gave up on the dedication and turned to the poem. "I can say it to you without reading the poem," Frost declared. Aware that the audience might be confused, he explained "What I was leading up to was to dedicate the poem to the President-elect."

All Falter Leaves
Frost's voice grew stronger and all faltering was gone as he recited from memory "The Gift Outright," a 16-line poem expressing hope about this country's destiny. The closing three lines were:

"To the land vaguely realizing westward,

"But still unstoried, artless, unenhanced,"

"Such as she was, such as she would become."

And then he added: "Or as we have changed it for this occasion: 'Such as we will become.'"

Kennedy had suggested the change to convey the feeling the country still has a great future ahead.

As Frost turned to his seat, Kennedy and President Eisenhower clasped his hand.

Historic Bridge

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—An old covered bridge over Mary's River near Chester was constructed of hand-hewn timbers in 1854 at a cost of $400. It was sold in 1872 for $2,000 and was used as part of the Randolph County road system until 1930 when a nearby steel and concrete bridge was constructed. The bridge is now maintained as a picnic site by the county historical society.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst
Different Stocks Fit Various Needs

Q "Earlier in the year you frequently recommended General Telephone & Electronics and International Tel. & Tel. Recently you recommended such stocks as American Hospital Supply and Avon Products. Have the first two companies lost their growth potential?" W.W.

A Not at all. I continue to like General Telephone and I. T. & T. as excellent companies which should experience good growth in the years ahead. You are correct in saying that I have also recommended American Hospital and Avon along with many other issues. There are over 1,400 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange and probably 30,000 companies whose shares are traded on the Over-the-Counter market. Among these I certainly hope to come up with many more sound investment suggestions. My timing of stock recommendations is based primarily on general market conditions, chart studies of relative action, and the earnings outlook of the individual companies. Also all stocks have their own characteristics to meet many different investment needs. Today's buyer of fast-growing Avon Products (which yields less than one percent) obviously has different objectives from the investor in slower growing, more conservative General Telephone (with a yield of close to 3 percent). It is one of the main purposes of this column to inform the reader of the type of investment which best meets his own personal requirements.

Q "I am interested in starting an investment program consisting of growth stocks. I am 35 and steadily employed. What stocks do you recommend?" M.W.

A You are in a fine position to start building a sound investment portfolio provided, of course, you have sufficient reserves in a savings bank or government bonds to tide you over any emergency. For your purposes, I recommend Corning Glass (NYSE), International Business Machines (NYSE), Arizona Public Service (OTC), Bell & Howell (NYSE), and Hewlett-Packard (OTC). ## D &amp; H Railroad Has Right to Close Station

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Delaware & Hudson Railroad had state permission today to discontinue agency service and close its station at Port Kent, Essex County.

The railroad must provide a shelter for the use of passengers awaiting trains, continue the handling of carload freight on local sidings and accept collect telephone calls from Port Kent freight patrons to its Plattsburgh station, the Public Service Commission said Friday.

The D & H said it spent between $5,300 and $8,000 a year to operate the Port Kent station, and that the volume of business was small.

The PSC said there was no opposition to the railroad's proposal.

AID TO THE DISTRESSED

The general standard of living in the United States makes it seem absurd that anyone should go hungry. Yet consider this remark not long ago, "I have seen little kids eating discarded apples and stuff from the garbage dumps." This grievous observation was made not in Central Africa or the Far East; it was made by a county official in the eastern part of the United States.

To realize that in some of the areas officially described as "economically distressed" people have to scrounge the dump for food is shocking, to say the least. It is all the more so when one recalls that this is occurring in the richest country on earth, which happens now to have in its storehouses the most enormous reserves of food ever accumulated in all man's history.

Pockets of unemployment of chronic proportions are responsible for the conditions main causes. In some mining communities, for example, the number of workers described above. Automation is one of the needed has been cut in half because of machines. Workers in the auto industry have likewise been displaced. Michigan now has 200,000 fewer jobs in this industry than in 1953.

Such figures have meant catastrophe to the breadwinners involved. This is their problem, but it is also the problem of the rest of us. It is up to our society, drawing upon its total resources rather than upon merely the resources of a given area, to provide the essentials of life for stricken families during the time of transition before the breadwinner has work again.

That is why legislation authorizing help for the distressed areas is marked S-1 in the Senate's legislative hopper. Help for those hit by chronic unemployment and its aftermath deserves to be the first order of business.

MAN TO WATCH

A while back Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York announced for re-election in 1962. Now new signs appear that he is following a quicker political pace than he did in 1960.

The governor is getting around the country some on speechmaking forays. Even Los Angeles has not been too far, though his state legislature is currently in session.

More than this, he has already offered his services as a 1962 campaigner to fellow Republicans everywhere, despite the fact he will then be engaged in his own battle for another term.

This kind of activity, begun early and continued long, was just exactly what Rockefeller did not do in the 1960 presidential campaign.

It is interesting to note that a good many GOP professionals, including some top men in the Nixon camp, felt that Rockefeller gave up too easily last year. Many of these were happy that he did. But their expert judgment was that he could have made a good fight of it had he chosen.

They felt, among other things, that he was very badly advised politically. Many were thoroughly convinced that he did not have a single aide qualified to counsel him on the intricacies of national politics.

As one GOP veteran put it tersely if somewhat cryptically: "Rocky never knew where the bodies were buried."

Perhaps the sharpest signal on Rockefeller's 1964 intentions will come if and when he chooses a really well versed political assistant between now and 1962. It would be clear evidence that next time he will be prepared to master the political infighting he turned away from in 1960.

Plainly, no matter what he does, there will be plenty of Republican opposition to Rockefeller as a 1964 candidate, and possibly not the least of it from Richard M. Nixon himself.

Yet even Nixon's own advisers did not underestimate a green Rockefeller in 1960. Neither they nor any other party leaders worth their keep are likely to underrate a

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
ZIONISM

Jews in most Western countries, particularly the United States, have been disturbed by a speech delivered by David Ben-Gurion, Prime Minister of Israel. Ben-Gurion is apparently desperate that the Jewish immigration to Israel has become reduced and that leadership Jews from Western countries do not come at all. Israel must now develop its population by the simple process of birth rather than by large scale immigration upon which it has depended.

Israel as a nation responds to a permanent hope of the Jewish people, often expressed in the Bible. It is the basis of the most interesting holy days in the Jewish religion, Passover and the Feast of the Maccabees.

The modern Zionist movement, founded by Dr. Theodor Herzl, a Viennese journalist, at the Basle Congress in 1897, sought to establish a Jewish homeland in Palestine. This was accomplished by the Balfour Declaration in 1917 and by a decision of the United Nations in 1947. Israel thus was established as a nation for those Jews who chose to live there.

Nevertheless, a great many Jews — in fact, most Jews — particularly in the Western countries, while they contributed heavily to the development of Israel, chose not to live there. Comparatively few American Jews left this country for Israel.

There is the old historic argument as to what a Jew is. Ben-Gurion has for all practical purposes, tried to establish it that a Jew is one who migrates to Israel, which is historically an untenable position.

The Jews are a religion, the "People of the Book," who gave to mankind both the Old and New Testaments and who propounded and propagated the idea of one God, a total Being, who revealed the moral law of Moses. Jews differ from Christians in the essential fact that the Jews believe that the Messiah, the Saviour of mankind, is yet to come, while Christians believe that He has already appeared in flesh upon this Earth in the person of Jesus.

As a religion, Judaism once possessed a central temple, built by Solomon in Jerusalem, which was conducted by an order of priests. In due course, the temple was defiled and finally destroyed. Since then Jews have had no priests but have depended for their religious sanctions upon rabbis who are teachers and preachers. Judaism, having no central organization, broke up into many sects at different times. It would serve no purpose to go into all of them now; suffice it that in the United States, from rigid to free, are the Hassidim, the Orthodox, the Conservative and the Reform. The Zionist movement, prior to the establishment of Israel, gained its strength from the Orthodox and the Conservative. After Israel was established, many Reform Jews decided that Israel would be good for the refugees from Hitler and supported the effort financially.

The so-called ethnological Jew is, from a Jewish standpoint, a monster. This person rejects Judaism as a religion because he abhors religion, but he regards himself as a Jew by race which is historical and ethnological nonsense. The Jews are not a race, having assimilated with many peoples. Anthropological measurements of thousands of Jews failed to produce a racial pattern. The Yemenites, the Beniaminites, the Bene Israel of India, the Falashas are racially not akin to the Jews of Lithuania or of Poland or Sweden.

In the United States many younger Jews who have abandoned their religion regard themselves as ethnological Jews and express an affinity for Israel because of racial heritage. The Bible and Talmud and all Jewish tradition, however, are antagonistic to them because from the beginning the Jews are not defined as a separate race but are the offspring of Abraham who was a Chaldean, coming from the city of Ur. From earliest times, Jews intermarried with their neighbors.

Zionism adds to this intensely complicated picture the third element, nationalism, which it becomes increasingly difficult for Western Jews to accept because dual nationality is offensive to most decent folks who belong to the country of their birth or adoption with single loyalty and unswerving fidelity.

Ben-Gurion hurt the cause of Israel by raising the issue that good Jews are those who migrate to Israel. The Jewish thought on the subject is that good Jews are those who believe in God and live by the moral law which God gave to Moses and the Prophets for all men to have.

The Mature Parent

All Sorts of Ways to Deal With Intolerable Hurts

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
My sister is remarried to a man she previously divorced for physical abuse. As the playboy in our town, he was always in and out of trouble, once demanded and got four cars in one year. Now my sister says he is "reformed" but the way they treat their 2-year-old boy is scandalous. If Bobby points to something instead of asking for it (he can't talk yet) he's beaten with a flyswatter. If he falls down and hurts himself, the monster of a father will say, "Don't sympathize with him or he'll just yell harder." He says he treats the child like this to avoid spoiling him. What can we do to stop it?

ANSWER: You can direct that question to your local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.
In the meantime you might consider the possibility that your brother-in-law is trying to safeguard his son against the suffering he himself experienced as a "spoiled" child; that in beating his baby he is beating down impulses he still fears in himself; that the "reformation" which establishes him as a respectable member of his community is the dke he has painfully built against the pressure of those fears.

I suggest these possibilities because it is never beneficial to us to regard another human being as a "monster."
Though we can judge your brother-in-law to be a dangerously incompetent parent, none of us are in any position to despise him. We all have our methods for dealing with intolerable hurts. Some are wiser than others.

If, in our vulnerable youth, we have been permitted to expose ourselves to repeated failures, we may choose a foolish method to correct them.
Like your brother-in-law, we may become so deeply afraid of the weaknesses that we panic at any sign of weakness in our children—and beat them. To the world we look like a monster.

But in our poor demented way, we are still human. We are struggling to protect our child. By inflicting physical pain with the flyswatter we hope to deter him from incurring the kind of pain our still-tormented, still-terrified consciences inflict on us.

However, were I you, these realizations would not deter me from reporting this unhappy man to the S.P.C.C.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Stop calling her Jackie. Like her husband, who also wishes newspaper headline writers would drop the "Jack" in favor of John or J.F.K., Mrs. John F. Kennedy would prefer to be called Jacqueline.

But what John and Jacqueline dislike seeing in print they love hearing from each other. He always calls her Jackie, and she always calls him Jack.

THE SOUND MADE by Pagemaster, the small electronic alarm system that buzzes in a person's pocket when he is wanted on the phone, is anything but music to the ears of Howard Mitchell, director of the National Symphony.

The device has been issued to cabinet members, congressmen and inaugural officials so they can be notified of phone calls no matter where they are during inauguration festivities. When the device goes off, the carrier is supposed to call a special message center which triggers the Pagemaster, to find out who phoned him.

Mitchell tried one out for a week and then gave it back. The device kept going off right in the middle of rehearsals.

SHERATON-PARK Hotel bartenders have concocted a new drink especially for women attending inauguration festivities. It's called the Jacqueline Rose and consists of Cointreau, Jamaica rum, lime juice and sugar. The drink is served over shaved ice with a white rose floating on top.

"Our committee feels that this ball will become firmly established as a bipartisan function the highest tradition of American politics — that is, the Republicans will do it this year and we expect the Democrats to carry it on in 1965."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MITLER

Pictures and books of Civil War are of interest this year as it is the 100th anniversary. I mentioned before several books I have called "The Photographic History of the Civil War" put out by the Review of Reviews Co. in 1912 for the Semi-Centennial Anniversary.

One item in Volume 8 reads in part: "The Birth of Baseball. Some of the men who went home on furlough in 1862 returned to their regiments with the tales of a marvelous new game which was spreading through the Northern states. In camp at White Oak Church near Falmouth, Va., Kearney's Jersey Brigade played vs. Bartlett's Brigade in this baseball, as it was called. Bartlett's boys won the historic ball game of 1862."

One picture in this book shows a gentleman who looked very much like U. S. Grant. He was smoking a cigar and sitting on a horse. Information under the picture reads: "The famous Allan Pinkerton — during the month of the Battle of Antietam. The name of Allan Pinkerton became one of the most famous in secret service work the world over. This keen-witted detective came to America from Scotland about 20 years before the opening of the Civil War. He was conducting a successful agency in Chicago when his friend George B. McClellan, sent for him to be chief detective in the Department of the Ohio. Shortly afterwards, went to Washington under General McClellan to direct the secret service operations in the Army of the Potomac."

Allan Pinkerton also did extensive detective work for the provost-marshal at the Capital. The government before he returned to his detective agency in Chicago.

It is said, that only a handful of people, in North and South together, knew the real identity of "Major Allen," as being Al. He was a stanch admirer of McClellan, and was chosen as the head of "Little Mac's" secret service, and remained until McClellan himself retired in November, 1862. Allan Pinkerton continued to investigate cotton claims in New Orleans for Ian Pinkerton. In one of these "secret service" pictures is shown a John McEntee, detailed from the 80th New York Infantry, perhaps it was from Ulster County.

This book also covers "Telegraphing for the Armies." General Grant had this to say in their memory. "No orders ever had to be given to establish the telegraph... the moment troops were in position to go into camp, the men would pick up their wires... the organization and discipline of this body of brave and intelligent men." According to some of these pictures they looked like mere boys, which no doubt they were.

There were some 300 casualties among the telegraph operators, from disease, wounds, death in battle or capture. "They were mere employees, and the wheels inside inevitably stop though outwardly everything looks the same. And the national government's budget is many times that of any single American company. Most of the officials in the new Administration here will not be familiar with the background of their jobs for months to come.

Apart from the desires of the politically victorious to celebrate—and they are happy and gay today in their triumph—the fact remains that the way the United States changes Presidents is not suitable for a nuclear age. Confusion and a kind of irresponsible drifting take the place of an efficient operation.

Civil Servants Stay On
The alibi is offered that below the 90 top executives is an army of civil servants who stay on from administration to administration. But if the career employees can carry on the affairs of government so well, one wonders why the 90 executives are hired in the first place.

The truth is the 90 executives do have the power to initiate policy and to make decisions while the subordinates usually take no risks but pass only on matter of routine.

The military chiefs, of course, stay on, but there has been so much hue and cry about civilian supremacy being needed at the Pentagon that one wonders whether these military men would venture to make decisions on their own unless the emergency were of a truly alarming nature.

Air Alert Continuous
Thus the Air Force maintains a partial airborne alert around the clock and has facilities for detecting, if not intercepting, oncoming planes and missiles. It isn't known exactly how much advance warning of an attack we can be sure of, but it is a matter of minutes. America, of course, is supposed to take the "first blow" and do what it can afterward with what missiles or weapons are left.

Altogether, the inaugural ceremony, brief as it is and followed by a three-hour parade, should emphasize the risks incurred nowadays when government stops functioning even for a little while.

The whole set-up is one that developed in times when America was protected by two oceans and when hostile warships had to spend many days approaching our shores. As for the general operations of government, nobody appraises the damage to the citizens resulting from inefficiency or neglect of the public interest during the transition period.

Better System Needed
Concentration of power in our own government as related to executive functions is essential, but the situation cries out for a better system of transition and a more gradual rotation of personnel so that everything doesn't have to be done within a few days.

Mr. Eisenhower has suggested that the inauguration be held in the autumn soon after the election and at least eighty days before Congress is convened in January. This might help on the weather side and reduce somewhat the confusion of the present method of transition, but the flaws in the system are more basic. The need is for fixed terms that do not expire at the same time in all important administrative offices below the cabinet level. It may take a disaster some day to awaken public opinion to the dangers of the present slipshod system of "transition."

Poultry States
Maine leads the states of the Union in dressed poultry under governmental supervision and inspection, producing more than 143 million pounds in a recent year with Arkansas ranking second with a production of nearly 132 million pounds.

Today in National Affairs

'Transition' of Government Called Epic of 'Confusion'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The flavor is Hollywood. Noted theatrical stars perform, as the money for tickets helps pay political expenses, but there is surprisingly little interest in just how these were incurred.

Despite the weather, the watching crowds and the parades along historic thoroughfares are festive, as in a Roman holiday. The inaugural ceremony itself is reminiscent of the coronation of a king.

Two minutes before noon one man is clothed with the power to defend the nation against surprise attack. Two minutes later a new President assumes that fateful responsibility. What a moment on some inauguration day for an unscrupulous enemy to choose!

V. I. P. Assemblage

Assembled in an area of a few hundred square feet on the Capitol plaza is the entire government — the President and his cabinet, other key men in the executive departments and agencies, the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the members of Congress — along with the military chiefs and sub-chiefs, the diplomatic corps, the Governors of several states and their staffs, heads of corporations and labor unions, and a sizable number of the nation's leaders in all fields.

Continuity in government is purely theoretical. Transition is being described as "smooth," but this is mostly because it is accomplished without personal rancor or ill feeling and in a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness.

Confusion

"Continuity," moreover, is an ironic word. The transition in government really means confusion as there is a change-over a ninety top executives and sub-executives. Take away such personnel from a corporation as big as General Motors, most underplayed and treated with scant consideration although performed dangerous work. Many had left families, and at the time the United States neither extended aid to their destitute families nor admitted needy survivors to a pensionable status."

General Grant was able to send and receive daily reports from four separate armies of some quarter of a million men over some 750 thousand square miles. The field-line was built of seven twisted, rubber-coated wires which had been hastily strung on trees and fences by these brave telegraph operators.

There is no doubt we want the downfall of capitalism, but not by means of war.

Castro Open to New JFK Peace Quest—But on Own Terms

By ROBERT BERLEZZ

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro offered Friday night to "begin anew" a quest for peace with President Kennedy's administration. But the Cuban prime minister made clear it would be strictly on his own terms.

The main condition for reconciliation laid down by Castro was a total change in what he labeled a "mistaken and absurd" policy of the United States toward his Communist - oriented revolutionary regime.

While Castro was laying down peace terms in a two-hour speech to followers at the Presidential Palace, his fiery younger brother sounded a belligerent note in an address at Santiago.

Raul Castro, minister of Cuba's armed forces, told supporters that imperialist dangers still existed and vowed "20 Yankees" would fall for every militiaman killed in defense of Cuba.

Both Castros addressed civilian soldiers who are being partly demobilized after Cuba's three-week military alert against a "Yankee invasion" that never came.

But despite the presence of some 50,000 militiamen at the Presidential Palace to hear Fidel, hundreds of others remained on duty at key posts.

The bearded prime minister made it plain in his speech that no changes could be expected in his regime that might help open the door to the type of relations he desires with the new U.S. administration.

He suggested that all the difficulties existing between the two nations were due entirely to the policies of the Eisenhower administration. He asserted the change-over in Washington did not mean that the danger to Cuba or the world at large had disappeared.

Plan Anti-Castro Miami Congress In Mid-February

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A mid-February anti-Castro congress is planned in Miami by a newly united group of Cuban exiles.

Some 50 exile organizations have joined in a unity move sponsored by the Cuban Chamber of Commerce in Exile. Only one important group, the democratic revolutionary front headed by former Cabinet minister Manuel Antonio de Varona, declined to join.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting Friday was the first time in two years that so many anti-Castro organizations had met on common ground.

Ricardo Palacio, president, and Pablo Perez, public relations director of the Chamber in Exile, later announced plans for the congress. They said it will determine military action by exiles against Fidel Castro; discuss combined military and political strategy, and strive for agreement on the kind of government that shall prevail in Cuba after Castro's overthrow.

Palacio said the unification move and congress will assure the organized Cuban underground that exiles are at their sides and will provide support in the fight against Castro and communism.

Anti-Castro organizations in North, South and Central America and the Caribbean have been invited to send five delegates each to the congress with one vote for each delegation. The congress will run for three days or longer.

came a unit of the State University but that some of its 35-year, $35 million capital expansion program, started in 1957, might be changed.

The $600 million master plan for expansion of the State University, announced Wednesday in Albany by the board of trustees, recommended that the Colleges of Education at Buffalo and Albany be authorized immediately to add liberal arts and science programs.

The plan also recommended state-supported graduate schools at Albany, Binghamton, on Long Island, and at Buffalo. Gov. Rockefeller said Friday he was considering a proposal that the state take over the University of Buffalo for a graduate center.

Part of Message

He said he would include his plan for higher education in a special message to the Legislature next week.

The Hamilton hinted the future of the College of Education here would not be affected greatly by inclusion of the University of Buffalo in the state system.

The University of Buffalo has an extensive undergraduate school offering bachelors degrees in most major fields of study. In addition, Buffalo has a law school, a medical school, schools of dentistry and pharmacy and also offers graduate degrees in the arts and sciences. It also has an extensive night school.

The university is located in the northeast corner of the city on a large and attractive campus. Modern dormitories for both men and women and a new building which houses the medical dental and pharmacy schools are included.

There is also a new atomic reactor partially financed by the state, and an 18-hole, suburban golf course.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Eight persons, including four firemen, were hospitalized overnight after flames razed the 102-room Frederic Hotel Friday. Cause of the blaze was not learned. Firemen estimated damage at $350,000.

Newburgh Man One Of 102 Survivors On Mexican Flight

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas Smith of Newburgh, N. Y., was among the passengers who survived the crash Thursday night of a Mexican airliner on Long Island.

U.S. Storm

clairville, Chautauqua County, 16; Olean, 12; Watertown, 11; Utica, 9; Jamestown, 8; Newburgh, Massena and Binghamton, 4; Cortland, 2; and Rochester, 1.

Syracuse and Buffalo stayed barely above zero, with a 1 degree reading at Syracuse and 2 at Buffalo.

Fla. Braces for Cold

Smudge pots burned during the night around vegetable fields in southern Florida as truck farmers braced for a predicted 32-degree low in that usually mild area.

Northeast areas struggled to shake off the grip of a snow cover of up to 29 inches that disrupted travel, closed schools and businesses and postponed many events.

29 Inches in Middletown Harrisburg, Pa., looked out from under 20 inches of snow, the heaviest in 16 years. Middletown, N.Y., reported 29 inches, southern New England a foot and as much as six inches covered areas as far south as Virginia.

Stinging winds whipped the snow into deep drifts over wide areas and thousands of workers were pressed into emergency service in an attempt to clear traffic arteries.

The presidential inauguration went off as scheduled in Washington but only after a small army of workers labored through the night to clear the streets.

Residents of Nantucket Island off the Massachusetts coast called it the worst blizzard in 20 years as the raging storm lashed the exposed island leaving 15 inches of snow.

Tides three to four feet above normal washed the New England coastal area forcing many residents to flee homes in lowland areas.

The spreading cold wave held most of the eastern two thirds of the nation in its grip today with 30 degree readings extending as far south as West Palm Beach, Fla.

Citrus growers expected little damage unless the cold snap extends over a prolonged period but vegetable growers took extensive precautions to protect frost-sensitive crops.

Sub-zero readings were reported from the northeast through the upper Great Lakes and from the eastern Dakotas through eastern Nebraska and western Iowa.

Drought in California California was in the midst of its worst winter drought in more than 80 years with only 13 inches of rain reported in San Francisco in the past 40 days.

Elsewhere over the nation today precipitation was generally limited to snow flurries in Kentucky, the Ohio Valley, the Appalachians, the portions of the upper Great Lakes and Dakotas and some rain in the southwest and southern Texas.

Fun Is Over

He clapped and grinned and doffed his high silk hat and, when it was over, said "It was wonderful."

Then Friday night Kennedy really had himself a ball. The crowds were so huge that the ball was scattered over five sites.

Kennedy went to them all. Mrs. Kennedy gave up at a fairly decent hour and went home.

Kennedy scurried right ahead, as if racing around town from one ballroom to another was the finest sport in the world. Indeed, he said so.

"I think this is a wonderful way to spend an evening," Kennedy said at one o'clock in the morning. "I hope we can all meet here tomorrow night at the same place at 1 a.m. and do it all over again."

Then he hustled away to another ballroom. Possibly the highlight of the evening was his visit to the huge National Guard Armory.

President and Mrs. Kennedy and Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson sat in a box overlooking a floor so big 100-yard dashes can be run on a straightaway with plenty of room to spare.

Some of the spectators, who paid from $25 to $40 each for tickets, were so far away they could scarcely tell which was Kennedy and which was Johnson.

And there was little dancing, just standing, although many enjoyed the evening by sipping champagne out of all things—paper cups.

Nearly everyone else in Washington, worn out by big day, beat his way home through the snow and went to bed.

But around 2 a.m. Kennedy dropped by the home of columnist Joseph Alsop—and joined another party.

Kennedy, Truman Meet

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, his inaugural fun over, got down to work today with a staff conference and a private talk with an unexpected visitor—former President Harry S. Truman.

Although another round of merry-making occupied Kennedy today's early morning hours, he was only a little bit late for his first scheduled activity. And before that he took time out to inspect the executive mansion into which he moved Friday.

He showed up for his first staff meeting as president about 15 minutes later than the scheduled 9 a.m.

Two Area

low of 8 below zero. Esopus Meadow Light Station recorded 10 below.

Local Fall 8 Inches As much as 29 inches of snow was reported in Middletown. Poughkeepsie had about 10 inches, Kingston about eight. John Herica, 60, of Slightsburg, operating the oil truck owned by Motzbro Corp., had just left the Rondout Creek bridge and was proceeding up-grade when he apparently suffered a heart seizure and slumped over his wheel. The truck was about 200 feet south of the bridge at the time of the mishap—11:35 p.m.

Mrs. Ethel Mae Sheely, 40, of 35 East Main Street, Port Ewen, was following the oil truck when, she told sheriff's deputies, the vehicle swerved to the left across the northbound lane, stopped and began drifting back toward her.

Couldn't Avoid Truck She shifted into reverse and began backing in an effort to avoid the 1956 tank truck, but was unable to do so.

The truck struck the front of her vehicle and pushed it into a snowbank on the westerly side of the highway before coming to a stop.

Post-Mortem Ordered Coroner Francis J. McCordle of Kingston ordered a post-mortem to determine the cause of death.

Hertica had been under the care of a physician for some time for a heart condition. Deputy Sheriff Thomas Mayone, Ernest Longyear and Michael Stuper investigated.

Hertica, 60, had been employed by Kingston Oil Supply Company for the past 22 years. He was a native of Rosendale, a son of the late Peter and Catherine Gebhard Hertica.

He was a member of Port Ewen Fire Department and United Commercial Travelers.

Surviving are his wife, the former Pearl Bush; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Jolin of Slightsburg; a son, Robert Hertica of Kingston; two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Richards of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Mrs. Emma Richards of Kingston; four brothers, Peter of Biloxi, Miss.; Stephen of Kingston; Charles of Port Ewen, and Nicholas Hertica of Lake Buff, Ill.; also four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral Is Tuesday

The funeral will be held from 9:15 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen where at 10 a.m. a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Sunday and Monday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Shovels Snow, Dies

G. McKee died Friday afternoon shortly after he had finished shoveling snow from his driveway. He was employed by the Kingston IBM plant.

Coroner Michael Galletta of Saugerties said today that McKee died of natural causes.

McKee was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Air Force Reserves. He is survived by his wife, Veronica T. McKee, nee Schnall; two daughters, Karen and Geraldine, and a son, Michael all at home. He also is survived by two brothers, John L. McKee, of Belleville, N. J., and Harry McKee, Rockaway, N. Y. Funeral services will be held Monday, January 23 at 9 a.m. from the M. A. Galletta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, thence to St. Mary's Church at 10 a.m. where a requiem high Mass will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties. Friends may call at the funeral home any time.

Buckley died suddenly of a reported heart seizure about 10 a.m. Friday after clearing snow from his property. Dr. B. W. Gifford of Saugerties was called to the scene and pronounced Buckley dead. He had been under the care of a Cossackie physician for a previous heart condition.

Buckley was assistant plant manager of Alpha Portland Cement Company, Cementon. He had been a resident of Saugerties for about five months, moving here from Catskill.

He was a veteran of the Korean Conflict and was a member of Rowlesburg Lodge 165, F & AM, Rowlesburg, Va.

Surviving are his wife, the former June Hinkel; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Buckley of Morgantown, W. Va.; three sisters, Mrs. D. Brown of Charleston, W. Va.; Mrs. Dale John and Mrs. Forrest Jones, both of Morgantown, W. Va.

Many called at Hartley & Lamouree Funeral Home, Main and Second Streets, Saugerties, on Friday night. The Rev. Joseph Rainier, pastor of Saugerties Methodist Church, visited the funeral home and offered prayers.

Funeral services and burial will be held Tuesday at Morgantown, W. Va. Burial will be in East Oak Grove Cemetery.

Two Local Fires

City firemen battled a fire that started from an overheated stove pipe and mushroomed through the attic of a one story frame house on Sticksles Street owned by William Scully Friday afternoon, and later they were dispatched to 36 Cedar Street to extinguish a fire in an over-stuffed chair.

At 2:38 p.m. fire companies from Central, Wiltwyck and Wicks fire stations were dispatched to the Sticksles Avenue residence occupied by John Slater and family, after fire caused by an overheated stove pipe was discovered.

Reports Heavy Damage Fire Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief George D. Matthews commanded firemen as they fought the flames that strengthen the United Nations and to create a "new alliance of progress" with "our sister republics" of the Western Hemisphere.

With Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other Cabinet members taking office today, and with the detailed job of organizing the new government still ahead, no one here now knows how long the task of developing new plans will take.

The only negotiation pending in the disarmament field is the Geneva conference on a nuclear weapons test ban. In suspension since late last year, this conference is scheduled to resume Feb. 7. State Department officials expect the Kennedy administration will have to seek a delay.

U. N. Due Back March 7

The U. N. General Assembly, which recessed late last year, is due to return to work March 7. A delay in that meeting has not been suggested, so the new administration has a month and a half to get ready for the whole range of problems normally before the Assembly.

In at least one crisis Kennedy and Rusk have no choice but to move ahead rapidly. The conflict in Laos, which plagued the closing months of the Eisenhower administration, continues unabated. The United States is supporting the pro-Western government of Premier Boua Oum. The Soviets claim the legal premier is Souvanna Phouma, who fled the country last month after warring factions destroyed the ability of his neutralist regime to maintain order.

Communist armies have been delivered to rebel forces from neighboring North Vietnam in Soviet planes. The State Department fears a Red triumph in Laos would endanger all Southeast Asia. Armed U.S. training planes have been made available to the South Vietnamese.

mushroomed through the attic of the house on Sticksles Street. Heavy damage was reported. The flames were extinguished with two 1½-inch streams pumped from Engine 2.

Firemen remained at the scene until shortly before 4 p.m. At 4 p.m. fire units from Wiltwyck, Central and Wicks firehouses were dispatched to a fire at 36 Cedar Street, a 2-story frame house owned by John Fabiano and occupied by May Mulligan. Firemen said a lighted cigarette apparently caused the fire. The chair was carried outside by firemen under the direction of Chief Brett and Deputy Chief Matthews.

John Wolf, 10, of 140 Spring Street, suffered injury of the left leg Friday afternoon when his sled struck a parked car on Ravine Street, according to police. The boy was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment. Police said the car belonged to John Hogan, 42 German Street.

Wife Looks On As Pilot Dies In Fiery Crash

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A pilot returning from a cross-country flight Friday buzzed his house to signal his family he was home, safely, but never made it. Seconds later Lt. L. Robert C. Ussery, 32-year-old flier in the Alabama National Guard, died in a fiery crash while his horrified wife watched only 300 yards away.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband and father, William U. Kessler, who passed away one year ago, January 21, 1960.

What I would give to clasp your hand, your happy face to see, Your winsome smile and eyes so blue, that meant so much to me.

We miss you more and more each day and feel that you are just away.

We pray that God will hear our prayer and keep you in His loving care.

Aquinas Club Is Planning Its First Mardi Gras; Date Has Been Scheduled for Feb. 4

The Aquinas Club (Young Catholic Adults) has undertaken its biggest project to date. On Saturday, Feb. 4, the club will sponsor a gala costume Mardi Gras Dance at the Barn on Route 28.

A festive, carnival-like atmosphere will prevail according to Miss Mariama Roach and James O'Brien, co-chairmen of the dance. They are being assisted by Miss Regina Stalter and Peter Bruck. The committee has worked hard to provide an evening of fun and surprises for all. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes. Music for the dance will be provided by James Sweeney and his orchestra, beginning at 9 p. m.

The dance will be open to the general public. Tickets may be purchased at the door or from any member of the club.

The proceeds will be used to enlarge the club's scholarship fund.

The decoration committee will hold a meeting Tuesday evening, Jan. 24, at The Barn to discuss and materialize prospective plans.

Earlier this week, the club held its regular monthly business meeting at St. Philomena's Parish Hall on the Tuxtenbridge Road. President Frank Koenig presided and welcomed new members.

A delegation from Ellenville was present at the meeting. They are in the process of forming a similar group in that area and are observing the local club in action.

The next meeting of the club will be Tuesday, Jan. 31 at St. Philomena's Parish Hall. Guest speaker for the evening will be Frank Vogt, assistant district attorney, who after addressing the group, will answer questions from the floor.

Men's Club Plans Sequel to Show Given Here Last Year

Rehearsals and preparations are progressing for the original musical farce written by Charles M. Rinschler, local insurance agent, for the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church. The show, a sequel to "Old Kingston Point Park," will be given next Friday and Saturday nights, January 27 and 28 at Bethany Hall.

Entitled "The Captain's Dilemma" or "This Isn't the Mary Powell," the scene takes place aboard the night boat, S. S. Troy, bound for New York City on a summer evening in 1909. Authentic costumes and scenery will be used.

Much of the plot centers around the memorable Widow Jones played by Mrs. William Engelen. The title role of the captain will be played by Ward Ingalsbe Jr., and the various passengers and crew will include Robert Brainard as the thief; Warren Simmons, the count; Mrs. T. R. Smallton, the wife; Mrs. Gifford Beal, Snap Shot Sal; Gerald Anderson, opera scout; Mrs. Parran Gates, Mrs. Vonder Bradt; Roger Rinschler, Junior Vonder Bradt; Parran Gates, historian; Harry C. Seitz, first mate; James T. Little, cop; Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Harold Bell as the Golly Sisters, Mimi and Fifi; Mrs. Charlotte Peck, the maid; Frederick Supplies, deck hand; Miss Ethel Hornbeck, the suffragette. Reservations for the play may be made with any member of the Men's Club; at the church office or at the door.

The bride-elect, who is also the daughter of the late John W. Freer, is in her senior year at the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing. She was graduated from Academy of St. Ursula. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Kingston High School and Cornell University, class of 1958, is a guidance counselor for the New York State Department of Correction.

A fall wedding is planned.

Changing Spots

PRATTBORO, Vt. (AP)—The spots on America's dairy cows are changing. "Drive down any road in dairy country and you'll see more of the black and white color pattern of the Holstein breed than ever before," says the Holstein Friesian Assn. of America. The cattle registry organization says grade and registered Holsteins make up more than 60 per cent of America's dairy herds, and produce about 70 per cent of the nation's milk supply.

VISITING CONVALESCING MAN WHO LIVES ALONE

Question: A man I know very well, but to whom I am not engaged, has just recently undergone surgery. He was released from the hospital two days ago and is now recuperating. He lives alone in a two room apartment. I would like to know if it would be proper for me to go alone to his apartment to see him and perhaps tidy up his apartment and get him something to eat. My mother has put thumbs down on this, saying that I would place myself in a very bad light. I think she is just being old-fashioned and that in the present day it would be perfectly all right. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: Your mother is right, even in the present day you should not go to his apartment alone.

Attention Seeking

Question: It seems to be the practice here in this city, after the bride and groom and their wedding attendants leave the church, for them to ride through the streets on their way to the reception amidst loud blowing of car horns to attract attention. In my opinion this is in very bad taste, but I have been told it is quite customary. I would very much like to know what you think about this.

Answer: Especially in a crowded city this and all similar disturbing attempts to attract attention, are in extremely bad taste.

Taking Birthday Presents to Stranger

Question: A girl I know invited me to go to a Sweet Sixteen birthday party with her to which she was invited. (She was told she could bring a boy friend with her). I would like to know if I am supposed to bring a birthday present. The girl is a stranger to me.

Answer: It is not necessary, but you will risk feeling embarrassed if you should be the only one arriving without even a very inexpensive present for the birthday girl.

Long Necklaces Seen

Spring fashions have a fresh, clean, calm look to them. Essentially, they are unadorned and decorative detailing is absent.

Line is the clue, the Fashion Coordination Institute reports. Designers have concentrated on plain collarless necklines, fluid body lines, a wandering waistline and sleeves that are more dramatic by their absence. It is a season of "calm" dress fashions that inspire particular attention to accessories, the Fashion Coordination Institute points out.

And this season women will need and want jewelry as never before. It is the touch that turns the charming clothes into elegant fashion.

Spring jewels are newly elegant, colorful and dimensional. There is nothing carefree or casual about the new jewelry. Through the intricacies of design and combination of colors, floral pins in dimensional life-like forms look fresh and new. They provide perfect jewelry accents on collarless suits and dresses.

Dimensional abstract pins look smart and lend an additional note of interest when placed on giant pockets or pinned far out on the shoulder. Much of the pin importance is due not only to the lovely creations themselves but the imaginative ways they are worn. The trend toward longer necklaces has placed new importance on the pin worn squarely in the center of a single or multiple strand necklace.

The strong, clear, vivid colors of spring jewelry help to turn fashions into exciting dramatic costumes. Hot pinks, strong corals, yellow greens and bright turquoise are important colors for early spring months. Strong color combinations are often dramatically combined for contrast within one jewelry piece as with bright citron and sharp orange, deep turquoise with strong rich blue and green.

Monochromatic color combinations fuse tone on tone for a soft color accent. The fashion color clue is not to match jewelry with clothes but use it as an accent and create an actively bold and striking look for the total effect. From this new point of view jewelry has an important role as a colorful accessory.

In keeping with the easy spring clothes that move with the wearer, spring jewelry has dropped to new swinging lengths in necklaces, earrings and coin bracelets. Conservative necklaces range from 18 to 22 inches while high fashion styles drop to 45 inches. Most women will find that the 29 to 30 inch necklaces adapt to their taste and wardrobe. Longer necklace fashions have brought a brand new piece of jewelry fashion in the "sautoir," an elegant pendant dropping from the base of the necklace.

Home Extension Service News

Lenore Clemmshaw, assistant home demonstration agent of the Ulster County Extension Service, submits the following:

Lucky is the lady with the freezer. And even luckier is the lady who stores bread in her freezer—she knows what she's doing. For one thing, she is saving time. It's efficient to do a week's shopping at once, and to store the bread in the freezer. Freezing bread has other advantages too.

To begin with, it retards the staling process. And when it comes to making sandwiches, it's easier to spread a frozen slice of bread than a fresh one.

Along this line, freezing sandwiches for the lunch carrying members of the house is a good idea for any homemaker. You can make the sandwiches at your convenience, and a frozen sandwich included in a packed lunch keeps other foods—such as celery, carrot sticks, and fruit... crisp and cool for several hours. The following sandwich fillings are recommended for freezing: Cheddar, American, and cream cheese... sliced poultry and meat, and those good old standbys... bologna and peanut butter.

Sandwich fillings which are not recommended for freezing include: Egg salads—freezing toughens the egg white. Lettuce—it loses its crispness, becomes slimy and turns brown. Tomatoes—they become mushy. Jelly, preserves and honey—they soak into the bread, unless a protective coat of butter or a similar substance has been spread to the edge of the slice. Mayonnaise—it separates, soaks into the bread and changes the appearance of the meat or cheese next to it.

One more suggestion. Sandwiches stored in the freezing

Foreman - Finger Betrothal Is Announced; Couple Make Plans for Wedding in March

Mr. and Mrs. H. Clarke Foreman of Kensington, Md., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan, to Brian K. Finger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Finger of Hurley.

The bride-elect is a graduate of American University, Washington, D. C., class of 1960. She is now employed as a receptionist at IBM in Bethesda, Md. Her fiancé is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1956, and is also a graduate of Cornell University, class of 1960. He is employed as assistant County Agent in Montgomery County, Maryland.

A March wedding is planned.

Puccini's 'Boheme' Scheduled for Kingston By Community Concerts; Boston Opera Group

LOIS MARSHALL

When the Boston Opera Group's production of Puccini's popular masterpiece, "La Boheme," appears at Community Theatre, Monday evening, January 30, 8:30 p. m., members of the Kingston Community Concerts Association will be treated to a rare operatic appearance by the incomparable Canadian soprano, Lois Marshall, in the role of Mimì.

The young Miss Marshall returned last fall from a highly acclaimed concert tour in Australia, and has been singled out for much comment following appearances in New York. She actually made her operatic debut with the Boston Opera Group in the role of Mimì two years ago. She followed it with the title role of the group's new production of Puccini's "Tosca."

Lois Marshall's authority in all fields of vocalism was well-established even before she decided to do opera. Her list of triumphs not only includes the continents of America and Europe but Russia as well, where she has made two highly successful concert tours.

Beginning her career as a singer whose special forte seemed to be oratorio and concert, Miss Marshall chose to bypass opera until the right role came along.

Admission is by membership card only. Inquiries concerning membership may be phoned to Mrs. Bernard Forst or Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, co-chairmen of membership.

"La Boheme" will be sung in English and will be under the artistic direction of Sarah Caldwell, the person who has molded the company's international prominence. The touring company includes chorus and orchestra as well as outstanding singers.

Under Police Guard
JACKSON, Minn. (AP)—An ex-Marine who reported his wife missing in San Diego Dec. 20 is under police guard in a hospital today after an alleged suicide attempt.
Edward Albrecht, 24, was questioned Friday after police found the body of a young woman in a storage trunk in Chicago.
San Diego neighbors of Albrecht said the description of the body matched that of his wife, Ann, 24, who had been missing from her home since December.
Albrecht, reached at the home of his mother and stepfather in Lakeland, Minn. Friday, said he had had domestic difficulties with his wife and last had seen her Dec. 20.

Place First New Mobile Air Sampling Unit in Operation
ALBANY — New York State's first mobile air sampling unit is now ready to be put in operation, Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner and chairman of the Air Pollution Control Board, announced today.
The new unit was designed to accelerate surveys of air pollution sources. It will be used for the first time in Niagara County, where field work was recently begun as part of the board's comprehensive survey of the county's air pollution problem.

To Check Pollution
"Mobile Air Sampling Unit Number One," as it has been designated, will be used for the investigation of pollution complaints where air sampling is necessary. The mobile unit will also be available on a loan basis to counties and municipalities for the investigation of local air pollution problems.
Commenting on the importance of the mobile unit, Dr. Hilleboe said: "Before we can fully cope with the air pollution problem we must have data on its extent in the state. The mobile sampling unit will serve as a valuable tool which our public health engineers will use to gather this important information."

Operates Unattended
Under ordinary operating conditions the van will be driven within 100 feet of a source of electricity and left unattended, except for efficiency inspections every 24 hours. Most of the equipment is automatic and coordinated; while air samples are being collected weather conditions are automatically recorded. Much of the chemical analysis is completed and recorded automatically. But when necessary, many kinds of manual chemical and microscopic examinations of the air samples can be made inside the temperature-controlled unit by laboratory technicians.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Two rocket manufacturers have ended a short but impressive career.
John A. Benjamin III and Robert Karz, both 15, have decided not to build any more because they can't find a place big enough to fire them.
The youths have built 22 rockets and fired 12 during the past three years.
Their last two—a five-footer and a seven-footer—won't be launched they say, because they have a range potential of 11,000 feet. They have launched previous rockets on a neighborhood farm which have soared 2,000 feet.
They have one spot the Army offered them to fire their seven-foot model but they think it's a little too far to travel—Ft. Sill, Okla.
Lard Davis, Ben Davis, and John Schoonmaker.
Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sherman were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Lathrop Saturday evening.

Hercules Taking Part in National Scholarship Plan

Hercules Powder Company has announced its participation in the National Merit Scholarship program, beginning this year, under which two four-year scholarships will be awarded annually to children of Hercules employees.

Selection will be based on scholastic aptitude, leadership and good citizenship as determined by testing and other procedures established and administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

A spokesman for the local Hercules plant, Port Ewen, said today that there are 27 Hercules plants in the United States and almost as many sales offices. Personnel throughout the United States will be eligible. The awards will be worth a maximum of $1,500 apiece each year, based on personal need and other factors.

Started in 1955

The National Merit Scholarship program was inaugurated in 1955 as a nationwide talent search to identify the most able high school seniors in the country, and to provide means by which private donors such as Hercules can sponsor scholarships for them. Hercules scholarships may be used by the recipient at any accredited college or university within the United States.

For the Hercules awards, any children of Hercules employees, including those in wholly-owned subsidiaries and affiliated companies, who qualify as finalists in the annual Merit Scholarship program are eligible for the new scholarships. Children of Hercules employees who may be finalists in the 1961 program will be eligible for this year's scholarships.

Stipulations Announced
To compete for the Hercules awards for 1962, and subsequent years, students must be second semester juniors or first semester seniors in the spring semester in secondary or private schools which have registered to participate in the National Merit Scholarship program.

Hercules has through the years recognized the problems concerning education and the necessity for providing assistance to schools and scholars alike. Each year the company provides large sums in grant-in-aid to colleges and universities. These grants, based on the theory that the educators themselves best know their needs, are entirely unrestricted. In addition, the company has a system of matching grants under which Hercules matches dollar for dollar contributions made by its employees to any accredited college or university up to a maximum of $1,000 for any employee in any calendar year.

Since 1952, Hercules has also awarded scholarships a year under the National 4-H Club's Entomology Program.

WW II and Korea Widows, Children Miss on Benefits

F. William Sheehan, officer in charge of the Kingston VA five-county office, has been advised by George M. Vadas, manager of the Veterans Administration Albany regional office, that widows and children, particularly of World War II and the Korean Conflict veterans, apparently are not fully cognizant of their potential eligibility for non-service connected death pension benefits under Public Law 86-211, which was effective July 1, 1960.

Vadas pointed out that, prior to the enactment of Public Law 86-211, in order for his widow to be eligible for pension benefits the World War II or Korean veteran at the time of death had to have a definitely ascertainable service-connected disability. This provision is not required under the new pension law.

Definite income limitations on a sliding scale establish the amount payable to a widow or child. However, Vadas emphasized the provision that if a widow, because of excessive income or remarriage is not eligible for pension, the child or children may be eligible.

Based on the experience gained since the enactment of Public Law 86-211, it appears that some widows who are ineligible for pension in their own right, are failing to file on behalf of their children.

Vadas advised that complete information and assistance is available at the Veterans Administration office, main post office, Kingston.

LeFevre, Davis And Ronder Are Named by Bank

Arthur A. Davis was elected chairman of the board of the Kingston Trust Company at its annual meeting held in the bank, 27 Main Street, Wednesday.

Ernest LeFevre was elected president, and Vernon S. Miller and Kenneth C. Pratt were elected vice presidents. Fred P. Carpenter was elected treasurer, and Gordon A. Craig was re-elected secretary.

Davis will complete 54 years with the bank on March 7, having entered the employ of Kingston National Bank as clerk and bookkeeper on March 7, 1907. He was elected cashier in 1917, and became secretary-treasurer of the Kingston Trust Company May 10, 1919, when the bank became a state-chartered institution. In 1951 he was elected vice president, and became president of Kingston Trust Company in 1956, in which position he continued until his elevation to the chairmanship. Mr. Davis is married to the former Gertrude Embree. They have two children, Mrs. Charles Cole of Kingston, and Arthur A. Davis Jr., well-known Ulster County attorney.

Ernest LeFevre, new president of Kingston Trust Company, entered the employ of the bank in 1919. He was named assistant treasurer in 1920 and assigned to head the newly opened Central Branch at 518 Broadway. From an original staff of three the personnel at that branch has grown to 40, and more than 10,000 accounts are serviced at that office. In 1951 LeFevre was elected vice president of the bank and continued in that capacity until his election to the presidency. LeFevre is married to the former Edna Davenport. They have one daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Richter of Reading, Mass., and two grandchildren, Linda and Douglas.

Alfred D. Ronder was elected to the bank's board of directors. Ronder, who has been tax consultant for the Kingston Trust Company for the past 40 years, is a member of the firm of Alfred Ronder & Co., Certified Public Accountants. He also is president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, treasurer of Ulster County TB and Health Committee, president of Temple Emanuel of Kingston, and a trustee of Kingston Hospital. Other officers elected at the annual meeting were: Walter L. Foster, Harry E. Miller, John T. Molloy, Joseph W. Robertson, assistant vice presidents.

George C. Bode, Walter K. Hubbard, George D. Reisenauer, William A. Thiel, assistant treasurers.

Maude D. Snyder, assistant secretary; Ellis H. Griffith, trust officer; George Rusk, assistant trust officer and counsel.

Kingston Trust Company latest published statement shows resources of more than 25 million dollars. The bank's main office is at 27 Main Street and branches are operated at 518 Broadway and in Phoenixia.

The Day the Earth Really Shook

No, this isn't an open pit iron mine—but there is plenty of iron from outer space down in that crater. This hole in the Arizona desert was blasted out millions of years ago by a stray meteor. Fortunately for earthlings, natural sputniks as big as that one are rare. Dotted lines show size of crater, nearly a mile in diameter.

Tiny as Dust, Big as Planets; These Are Nature's Sputniks

Wishing on a shooting star to bring you good luck is an old custom. Many people also believe that a shooting star will bring a change in the weather.

Meteors, which are called shooting stars, are not stars at all. They are bits of matter.

The difference: A meteorite is the name given to a meteor after it lands on the earth.

Some are extremely small dust particles. Others are large pieces of metal or stone as big as small planets. As they travel through space, they enter our atmosphere.

In space they move at tremendous speeds. The air, even in the highest levels of our atmosphere, creates a drag upon them when they enter it. This drag or friction acts as a brake.

The energy which was used in motion becomes heat energy. Very quickly, the meteor is heated to a brilliant red.

The rapid heating burns small meteors to dust. Larger, loosely built ones may explode when heated. Such explosions sound like cannon firing or like sharp bursts of thunder.

Larger, more solidly built meteors stay together and do not explode or burn up. However, their outer surfaces melt and form a crust. This crust is usually jet black if the meteorite is made of metal.

After the Race

By Frances Gorman Risser

Said the rabbit to the tortoise, When their famous race was done:

"Learn to walk a little faster, You slow and poky one!"

Said the tortoise to the rabbit: "I'm not speedy, that is true,

But I see a million wonders That are missed, swift friend, by you!"

are the only two kinds of meteors which enter our atmosphere.

Another kind is the very small particles of meteoric dust which come in large numbers and drift about overhead. Often they form a thin film on snow fields giving them a permanent yellow or brownish color.

Meteors do not have any power to bring us luck. Whether meteoric dust has any effect on rainfall is not clearly proven.

It may be that the dust helps to form rain clouds of water droplets since water vapor turns into droplets more easily if there are small particles of dust or other matter upon which the molecules of water may condense.

Volcano Keeps on Grumbling

Volcanoes are expected to cough up flaming lava, smoke, ashes, and steam. But some, like the Maccaluba Volcano on the Island of Sicily, do none of these things.

Maccaluba rumbles and grumbles. Occasionally there are explosions like cannon fire. But all Maccaluba sends up is cold mud mixed with water, a little oil, and hydrogen sulfide, an evil smelling gas.

This is a "cold volcano," but it is not an inactive one. It has several cones but none are very high. Often there are local earthquakes which do little damage.

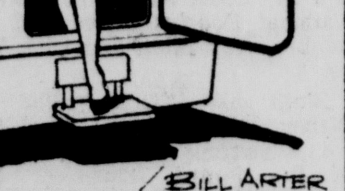

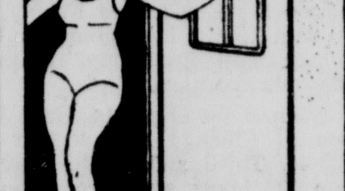

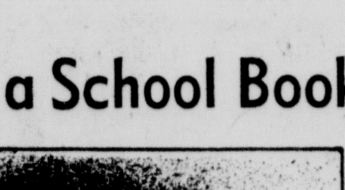

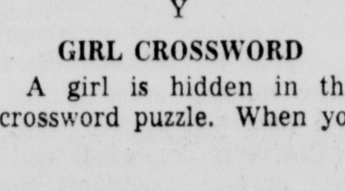

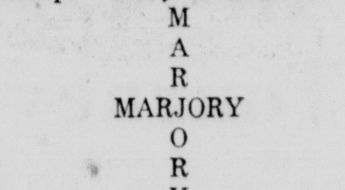

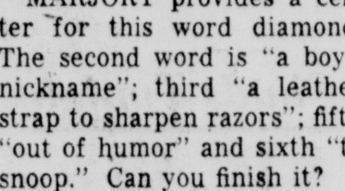

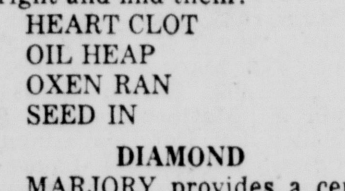

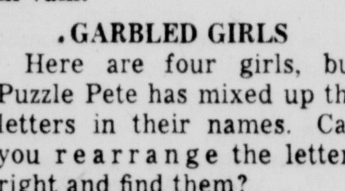

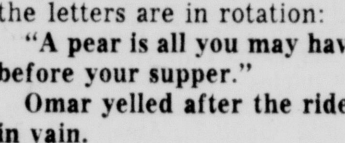

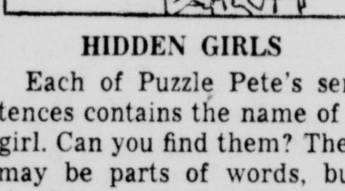

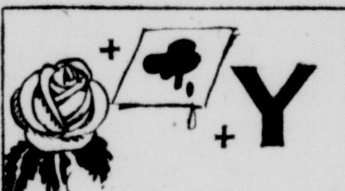

So often are there rumblings and grumbings and sharp explosions that primitive people thought the volcano was the home of the evil spirits.

From Paintings to Parachutes

Leonardo, It Seems, Didn't Know In What Century He Was Living

Sooner or later every boy and girl gets to look at a picture of the famous painting "The Last Supper." Equally famous is the painting of "Mona Lisa."

Most people know that these masterpieces were painted almost 500 years ago by Leonardo da Vinci.

What most people do not know is that Leonardo was a great inventor as well.

Remember, he lived in Italy 500 years ago. Here are some of his inventions: The helicopter, airplane, machine gun, automobile (driven by springs), lifting jack (like our auto jacks) and a two-level bridge.

Sounds unbelievable doesn't it. But Leonardo was an unbelievable man.

Leonardo was born in the small town of Vinci, near Florence, Italy, in 1452. In those days it was customary to call people by their first names. So he is Leonardo from the town of Vinci—Leonardo da Vinci.

He became the pupil of a famous goldsmith and painter in Florence, and amazed the older artists with his talents.

But Leonardo was not content just to be a painter. He had to explore many fields of activity—engineering, sculpture, medicine, physics, chemistry.

He would take nothing for granted. He would not believe anything until he was able to prove it to himself.

Many of Leonardo's inventions were made in his lifetime. Others exist only in hundreds of pages of drawings and notes which he kept to himself, and were found after he died.

His notes were not easy to read. He wrote them in a code he made up. Also, they were written backwards, so that to read them they must be held up to a mirror.

Some of his inventions:

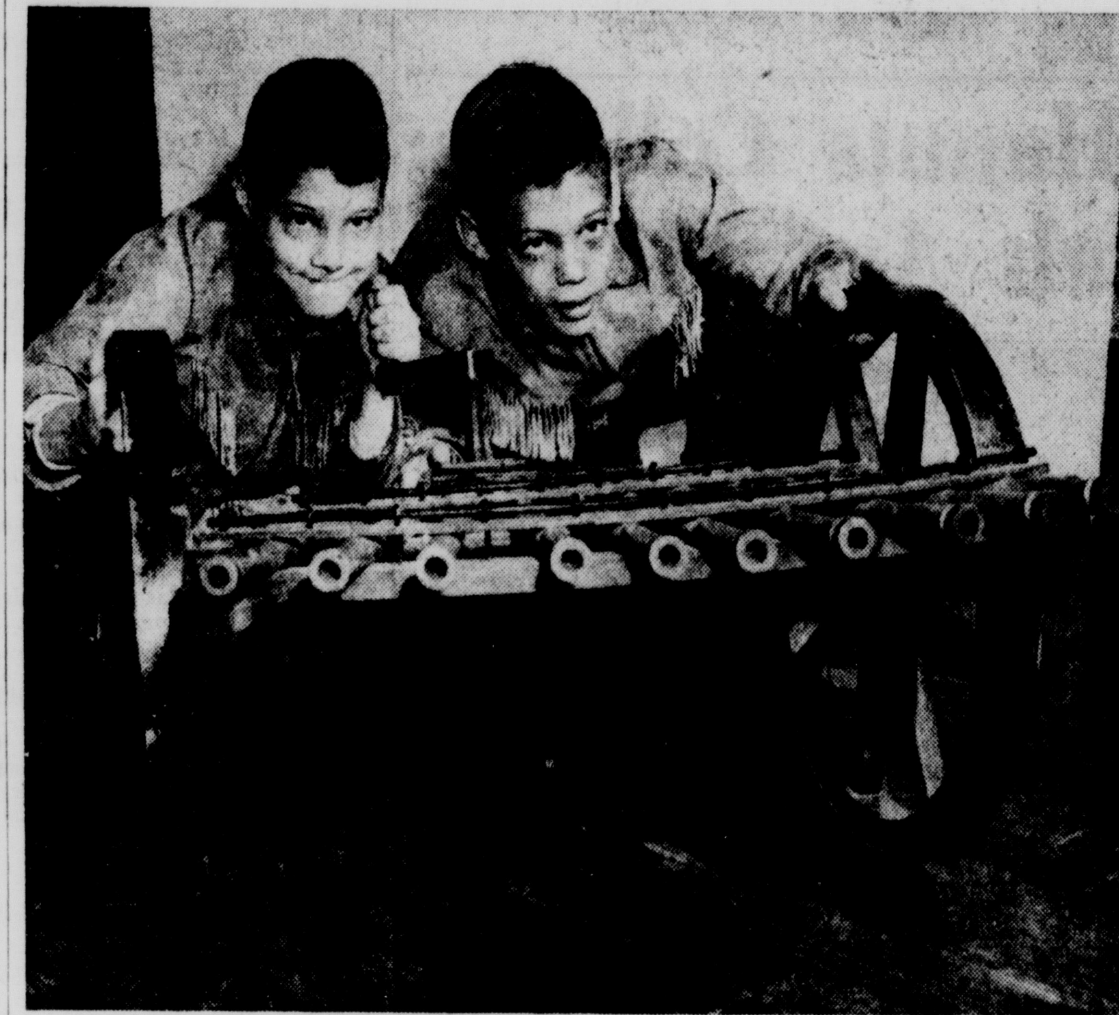

A parachute. It is said that a pupil of Leonardo really jumped with one of his parachutes from a high tower—and landed safely.

Two-level bridge. One level was for traffic, the other for pedestrians. Leonardo believed that such a bridge was needed so that children and adults could walk safely while horses and carriages dashed across the other level.

Machine gun. Leonardo's machine gun could be fired several barrels at a time or one at a time.

Tank. Much like the military tank of today; Leonardo's device lacked only a motor.

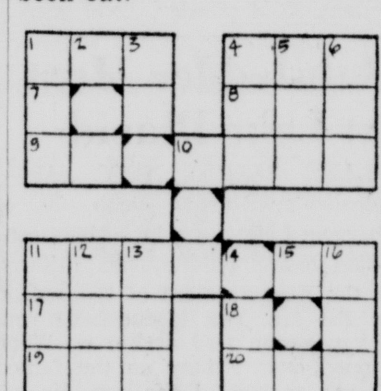

Helicopter. Leonardo's device looked like a giant pinwheel, operated by two men

Leonardo's Machine Gun---

The man who dreamed up this strange machine gun never heard of American Indians. This is a model based on invention by Leonardo da Vinci, who lived 500 years ago.

Birds of the Pacific Build Their Own Incubator

Nature provides her own incubator for some birds. An incubator is something which will keep the eggs warm even if the mother and father birds are away from the nest.

Some of the birds of the islands of the Pacific and the brush turkey of Australia know how to make these incubators. Can you guess how they do it?

Perhaps your father or a neighbor keeps a big pile of leaves rotting to use later as plant food. Next time you get a chance, place your hand on the pile. You will probably notice it is warm. This is heat given off by the leaves as they decay.

The Pacific birds use their great feet to scrape together a big pile of leaves and other plant material. Sometimes, several birds will work together to make a pile which is bigger than they are.

After the pile is scraped together and has begun to rot, the birds lay their eggs in the pile and cover them over with leaves.

The rotting leaves and plant stems give off enough heat to keep the eggs warm until the little birds hatch out.

After the birds are hatched, they still roost in the pile of leaves when it is chilly.

Sometimes, the father birds turning cranks. If Leonardo had an engine powerful enough, it might have worked.

Leonardo believed that to draw and paint the human figure, an artist had to know how the muscles of the body worked. For this reason he dissected dead bodies and made sketches of the muscles and skeleton. His discoveries about the circulation of blood were famous.

Many of his anatomy drawings were perfect enough to be used today.

When you talk about somebody being ahead of his time you're talking about Leonardo from the town of Vinci.

Road Jinx Haunts Colleges; K-State, Utah Are Victims

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball's road trap has snared Kansas State and Utah.

The 10th-ranked Wildcats, latest member of the elite to try bucking the home court advantage, carried a 10-game winning streak and an earlier victory over Kansas into the Jayhawks' lair Friday night for a showdown for top spot in the Big Eight Conference. Kansas won 75-66.

The Utes, led by Billy (The Hill) McGill, invaded Provo, Utah for a Skyline Conference game against Brigham Young. BYU won 91-86.

8th Straight
Cincinnati's Bearcats won their eighth in succession by rallying host Drake 86-64 in a Missouri Valley Conference game, and Memphis State rolled to its 30th straight home triumph with a 70-60 victory over Murray State.

In another Skyline game, Utah State edged Montana 58-57 on two foul shots by Cornell Green with eight seconds left. Idaho State whipped Western (Col.) State 83-53. Stanford whipped Washington 61-58 in overtime in a Big Five Conference clash as Phil Kelly sank a 30-foot jump shot to put the Indians ahead with 1:35 remaining.

Elsewhere Oregon defeated Washington State 60-53, Oregon State beat Idaho 67-52, Xavier of Ohio edged Western Kentucky 80-77. Syracuse whipped Alfred 79-67 and Seattle nipped Gonzaga 86-84 despite a 37-point scoring performance by Frank Burgess, the major college scoring leader.

St. Mary's Get An Even Split

St. Mary's CYO junior basketball squads split in two games, defeating St. Joseph's 45-44, at the GWS gym and bowing to Mt. Marion, 49-38, on the latter's court.

Spada scored 13 points in each game for St. Mary's. Henry had 14 against St. Joseph's who were led by Hawkins' 16 markers. Curly rimmed 23 markers for Mt. Marion.

Collins, Kroll Share Lead in Crosby Tourney

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—The lowest scoring field in the 20-year history of the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament today challenged co-leaders Bill Collins and Ted Kroll in the third round of play.

Collins of Baltimore and Kroll of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. grabbed the midway lead Friday with scores of 135, 9-under-par for 36 holes. The 210-pound Collins fired a 68 over the Cypress Point course while Kroll carded a 6-under-par 66 over Monterey Peninsula Country Club's course.

Forty-two of the 150 competing pros broke par for the two rounds with five others at even-par 144. In the past, no more than 20 golfers have gone 36 holes below par.

Former PGA champion Bob Rosburg entered the third round just a stroke off the pace with a 69-67-136. Deadlocked at 137 were Jack Burke with 68-69, Dave Hill 67-70 and the first-round leader Bob Goaly, with 66-71.

Arnold Palmer, golfer of the Year in 1960, hit his tee shot on the first hole off of bounds but came back for a 4-under-par 68 and a 138 total. Ken Venturi, the defending champion, also was there with 67-71 along with Mexico City's Roberto de Vicenzo 72-66 and Dick Stanahan 69-69.

In the pro-amateur division, the team of Don Finsterwald and former Walker Cup amateur Fred Kammer of Grosse Pointe, Mich., led after two rounds with a best ball score of 60-64-124.

Four teams were deadlocked at a stroke back—Mason Rudolph and Curtis Person; Jack Burke and George Coleman Jr.; Dick Stanahan and Bob Vaillancourt; and Wes Ellis with Frank Tatum Jr. The team scores include the amateur's handicaps.

Mont Pleasant Bows to Linton

Unbeaten Linton had sufficient power in the final quarter to overcome arch-rival Mont Pleasant, 66-56, in their Class A league last night in Schenectady. It was the 38th straight win for Linton.

The winners were led by Ben Winslow, who scored 22 points, and by dependable Jack Washington, who added 19. Gary Vinehout hit 23 and Randy Cross added 13 for Pleasant, which has a 10-2 record to date.

Pleasant led, 14-11, after the first quarter but then trailed, 27-25, and 45-41, before going under in the final period.

Bobsledder Hurt At Lake Placid

LAKE PLACID, N. Y. (AP)—Bobsledder Harley Webb, 30, of Saranac Lake, was in serious condition today with injuries suffered in the first accident of the season on the Mt. Van Hoevenberg run. A two-men sled driven by Webb flipped over Friday on the famed zig-zag section of the run. He became entangled in the sled and suffered a fracture of the hip.

His brakeman, Gordon Rascoe, was thrown clear of the sled and escaped injury.

Webb was taken to Placid Memorial Hospital.

He and Rascoe were participating in a qualifying run for interclub racing Sunday.

The world bobsled championships will be held at Mt. Van Hoevenberg next month.

Syracuse Wins After 8 Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Syracuse University snapped its eight-game losing streak Friday night and it was Pete Chudy who did a lion's share of the work.

The Orangemen handed Alfred University a 79-67 setback at Alfred for its second win of the season against nine defeats as Chudy fired in 41 points.

In the only other action by Upstate teams, Buffalo State downed the University of Toronto, 86-72, at Toronto.

Chudy poured in 13 field goals and made 15 of 19 foul shots in a tremendous performance. Steve Steinberg paced Alfred with 32. Syracuse led at the half, 39-21.

It was Alfred's fifth win against five losses.

At Toronto, Paul Andruczyk came off the bench for Buffalo State and whipped in eight fast points to stave off a Toronto rally midway through the second half.

It was the fourth straight win for Buffalo State which is now 8-4.

Cleveland Is Second In Tight AHL Race

The tight four-team race for three playoff berths back of Springfield in the American Hockey League today found Cleveland in sole possession of second place, Hershey and Rochester tied for third and Buffalo only a point behind in fifth place.

Cleveland went two points up on Hershey and Rochester Friday night by downing the pacesetter Indians 5-3. And in the other game, the Americans moved into a tie with idle Hershey by downing the Bisons 3-1.

Jim Anderson, the league's No. 1 goal getter, gave Springfield a 3-1 tie with two second period goals and ran his season total to 29. But Wayne Larkin put the Barons ahead at 17:52 of the same period and John Ferguson came through with his second of the game at 18:33.

Guy Rousseau scored the deciding goal of the Rochester-Buffalo game at the 14-minute mark of the second period. Gerry Ehman's third period goal proved to be just frosting for the Amerks as Ed Chadwick turned back every Buffalo threat.

Storm Postpones All Scholastic Cage Tilts

Yesterday's blizzard, which dropped snow throughout the area, forced the cancellation of the entire basketball slate. Many of the games will be played during the coming week, normally examination time for the schools.

In the DUSO, three games had to be called off. Middletown will be at Kingston next Friday, normally an off night for both clubs. The Newburgh at Liberty game has not had a new date set. Port Jervis will be at Poughkeepsie for a Thursday night attraction.

In the UCAL, Ontario will play against Rondout Valley Tuesday night at the Ganders' gym. No dates have been fixed for the Marlboro at Highland and Walkill at New Paltz contests.

The Wappingers Falls at Arlington contest in the DCSL will be held next Friday. Saugerties at Roosevelt and Beacon at Cardinal Farley were also called off but no new dates have been fixed as yet.

Flip Felipe, veteran anchorman for Schneider's Jewelers in the No-Can-Do League, had the only recorded 600 in city circles last night with consistent efforts of 210-218-186 for 614.

HAROLD STEWART was No. 2 hitter in the No-Can-Do league with 529 sticks on games of 223-172-197. ## Finals Tonight All-Star Bowling Tourney Still Close

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—Two of the closest races in tournament history shaped up today as the $68,150 National All Star Bowling event headed into the final four rounds.

Observers conceded that any one of four contestants stood a good chance to succeed Harry Smith of St. Louis as the men's champion, and the women's division was even more tightly bunched. Only 2-42 Petersen points separated the top seven lady bowlers.

The Petersen system awards one point for each 50 pins felled and each game in the head-to-head matches.

Hits Record 995
Bill Tucker of Rockhill, Mo., a darkhorse who rolled a record 995 series for four games Friday, had a slim 26-pin lead going into the fourth and final day of match play competition.

He had 234-20 points. Earl Johnson of Chicago was second with 233-44. Third and fourth were the two St. Louis stars who won the National Doubles crown last September, Ray Bluth and Dick Weber.

Bluth had 232-25 points and Weber 231-37. Though both have won numerous titles as members of the famed Budweiser Beer team, neither has captured the coveted all-star championship.

Lined up in close order in the women's race to succeed Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia as champion were Shirley Garms, Chicago, 107-39 points; Phyllis Notaro, Brant, N. Y., 107-38; Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids, Mich., 107-20; Jean Eder, Westfield, N. J., 106-43; Hope Riccilli, Downey, Calif., 106-31; Helen Shablis, Detroit, 105-03; and La Verne Carter, St. Louis, 104-47.

Tonight's final round will be telecast over ABC from 10 to 11 p.m. Eastern Standard Time.

Monkeyshine

UMBOINTWINI, South Africa.—(NEA)—There were many cases of burst hose on the Umbointwini golf course.

They were due to increased pressure when sprinklers were turned off mysteriously.

The chairman of the greens committee stayed up this night to investigate. At 6 a. m. the puzzle was solved.

The chairman saw a monkey turn on a tap, get a drink, then turn it off.

Too Late

MIAMI, Fla.—(NEA)—Arnold Palmer, the current Mr. Golf, met Jack Harding, athletic director of the University of Miami at the Coral Gables Open.

He reminded Harding that back in the '40s he had written him seeking an athletic scholarship.

"Didn't have any then," was Harding's reply. "But I'll give you one now."

Three Dodger Players Sign With Pay Boosts

Vice President E.J. (Buzze) Bavasi revealed today that each got a salary increase but did not disclose the amounts.

Many Sports Events Called Off Because of Snow Storm

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The snow storm blanketing much of the Eastern seaboard Friday shut down the Charles Town race track, caused cancellation of hockey and basketball games and even forced postponement of a ski festival.

The weekend sports program was curtailed by snow which ranged from 7 to 12 inches, severe cold and hazardous travel conditions.

Plans went ahead, however, for the scheduled opening Saturday of the 48-day horse race meeting at Bowie, Md.

Clears Strip

One hundred pieces of equipment were used to clear some 12 inches of snow from the Maryland racing strip, its parking lot and the various approach roads. Officials insisted the inaugural program would go on.

The track at Charles Town, West Va., was not as lucky. The storm forced cancellation of the last three days of the 32-day winter meeting—Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The Army-Cornell track meet, scheduled Saturday at Ithaca, N. Y., was postponed because of the bad weather. At Annapolis, Navy called off Saturday's

Good Vise Will Improve Quality Of Home Projects

By MR. FIX
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Often left off of lists of basic tools for any home, but one that makes all the others more useful, is the vise.

If you've been bracing work with your foot, knee or hand, if you've been butting work against a wall, hanging on with a pair of pliers, then you need a vise.

Without one the sharpest tools, the best craftsmanship and the most careful measuring and marking will leave sloppy joints, ragged cuts and a generally poor appearance in your work.

There are two general types—the metal vise and the wood vise. The metal or bench vise is mounted on the surface of the work bench on a base on which it turns and locks in place. Special pipe jaws are available for the metal vise so that round objects can be held without slipping.

Metal Vise Is Versatile

The typical woodworking vise fits into the work bench itself, hanging below it so that the top of the jaws are flush with the surface of the bench. Wood faces are fastened to the inner sides of the front and rear jaws so that work is not marred. A wood vise can be improvised by buying only the special screw and making jaws of hardwood.

While extensive woodworking calls for a good wood vise, a metal vise will take care of a wider variety of jobs and by placing a couple of pieces of wood between your work and the metal jaws it can be used as a wood vise. The scrap wood, smooth pieces, will prevent the metal jaws from marring the work. Some metal vises can be turned in a variety of positions to make them even more versatile.

Fasten With Bolts

No matter which you install, make certain it is installed securely. When mounting a vise on the bench use bolts that you can run through the bench top and tighten.

A vise can close down on an object with hundreds of pounds of pressure. There's no need to tighten any more than necessary. To do so will only crush the work. Don't attempt to tighten it further by extending the handle with a pipe. If you don't ruin the work, you might wreck the vise.

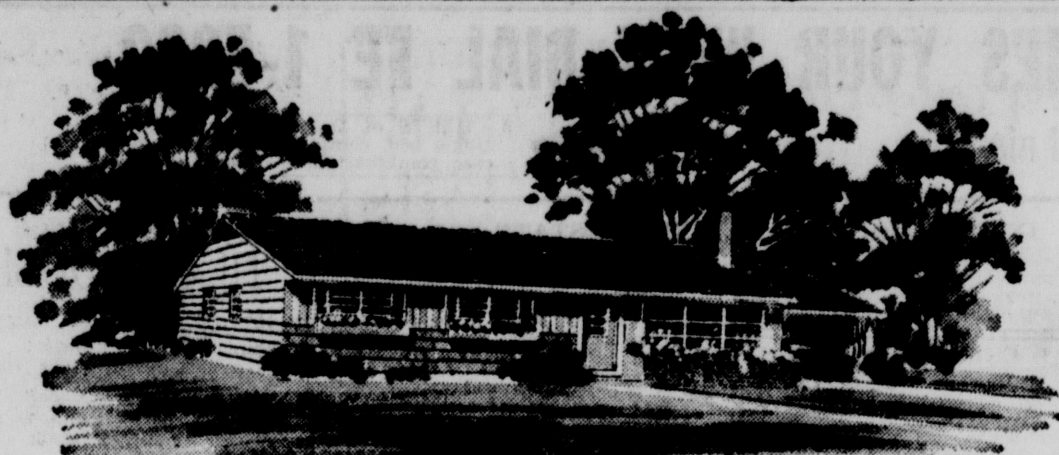

And keep your fingers out from between the jaws.

Work Close to Jaws

Work as close to the jaws as possible. This means that you should leave only a small part of the work which you are sawing, planing or chiseling sticking out of the vise. Too much will vibrate, could make you lose control of the tool.

But don't get work so close that you mar the vise jaws. If the work is such that could be married easily use large pieces of wood to spread the pressure, or cover the jaws with scrap copper or aluminum.

When painting a metal vise—important for maintenance—paint all but work surfaces and moving parts. Oil moving parts and then wipe off the excess. Otherwise the oil will hold dirt, cause the moving parts to get gummy and stick.

THE DUANE
Architects Home Design

Versatile Unit Will Make Extra Bedroom, Dining Room

(By Associated Architects)

An economical home for a big family? Why not? And so Architects Home Designs present "The Duane," a four bedroom ranch type plan designed for comfortable living for America's growing families.

There's something special about "The Duane." It will accommodate large families yet serve smaller families as well. The secret lies in one of the most versatile rooms I've ever seen—the room next to the kitchen. Depending on family requirements, this can be a nursery, a full-fledged bedroom, a study or library. Or turn it into a true dining room, handy to the kitchen. It is well-lighted and large enough for dining furniture. All this without alteration.

Here is how economy is effected, without detracting from the full usefulness and beauty you want in your home: The architects have controlled the outside dimensions so that stock lengths of framing lumber are used; this eliminates a good deal of the waste that ordinarily occurs in home construction. Moreover, a modular plan is used, modified only to provide maximum convenience for family members. Because the house is a perfect rectangle, costs are further reduced since there are no breaks, bays or other irregularities of design.

The carport is less expensive than a full garage, yet it protects your automobile effectively in most weather. However, if you prefer, the design of this home is such that the carport can easily be enclosed or even expanded by your own contractor for two-car accommodation. Or, if you wish, you can post-build the carport now and put it up later.

So much for the practical. "The Duane" also has beauty that will delight any family who owns it. The bedrooms, well separated from the living and working areas, assure privacy and quiet. Spacious wardrobes, correctly spaced windows, wall space for adequate placement of furniture—these are the factors that make the quartet of bedrooms so livable.

The living room's notable features include a window wall (with attractive planter bed just outside), fireplace and built-in bookshelves. Your guests, on entering the front door, deposit their coats in a most convenient closet just to the left. At first look they will see a decorator shelf and unit screen that forms a vestibule. Besides being ornamental, the screen also deflects drafts, adding to the comfort and health of your family.

The kitchen is a model of compact efficiency, which homemakers will appreciate. It's large enough to accommodate a table and chairs for dining. Five entrances—from the living room, carport, basement, back lawn and the versatile extra room—make the kitchen the nerve center of the house.

I wonder how often you've seen a bath like the one in "The Duane." It is actually separated into a lavette and bath, each of which may be used independently. This will prove a joy to any family, because it eliminates the irritating early morning wait to wash up before rushing off to work or school.

With your order you will receive a list of building materials needed.

The living area is 1,170 square feet, plus 280 sq. ft. for the carport. Cubage is 24,000 cubic feet with basement, or 19,200 cubic feet in the basementless version. The latter plan calls for the heater to be placed in the space occupied by the stairway. The blueprints you get also show how any of three popular building materials may be used: wood siding, brick veneer or concrete block. The plan meets requirements of the FHA or VA and for safety's sake, electrical wiring follows the fire safety provisions of the National Electrical Code.

House Plants Easy to Grow

KAY SHERWOOD

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The current enthusiasm among fashionable interior decorators for masses of greenery within the home will strike many homemakers as pretty funny.

They can't imagine a home without a sunny window full of cheerful flowers and greenery tucked wherever possible, fashionable or not.

But the fact remains that the emphasis on plants as important decorative accessories has spurred some of us to test the interest on planters and the modern versions of ferneries and plant stands.

My own attempts to produce that lush look of tropical splendor so acclaimed these days have not been a complete success.

Then I met the parlor palm and a hardy ivy that restored my self-confidence. The parlor palm, I am convinced, will grow anywhere under any conditions—a splendid plant for me.

In the interests of better educated "green thumbs," the gardening experts of a national association drew up these reminders for us:

Light—Plants that will bear flowers or fruit need direct sun for best development. Most foliage plants do well without direct sun but must have strong natural light (or artificial light) to grow properly.

If you use sun-loving plants to decorate a dim part of the room, move them into sunlight for three hours daily.

Temperature—Most plants thrive best in rooms heated no higher than 70-75 degrees by day and 65 at night. Some plants can stand higher temperatures than others; let your plant dealer or florist advise on this point.

Humidity—Plant like high humidity. Offset dryness of rooms in winter by setting potted plants in trays or saucers of pebbles and keep a constant water level just below base of pots. In planters or decorative cache pots, put a layer of pebbles about an inch in the base, set porous clay pots on pebbles and fill in around them with peat moss and keep moist.

Water—Each plant needs individual attention. Touch topsoil with fingertip. If soil feels dry, water thoroughly. If soil feels moist, don't water.

Fresh Air—All plants must have fresh air every day. They will do better if not subject to drafts (thank heavens, the parlor palm can't read). A preferred treatment is to open a window in an adjoining room for 15 minutes every day.

Cleanliness—House plants with glossy or leathery foliage should be washed every week with clear water. Use a small laundry spray or the dish spray in your kitchen sink.

Food—Give plants a monthly feeding of a soluble houseplant food mixed according to package directions. Use good potting soil, either a prepared ready-made one or mix your own using equal parts of garden loam, sand, plus peatmoss or peatmoss.

Pest Control—Be on the alert for possible insects. As a precaution, you might spray plants once a month. Pushbutton cans of insecticides made for use on house plants are convenient but you can mix your own spray. Be sure to spray undersides of leaves as well as on top.

Bridge Bidding Traps Avoided

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the unfortunate features of standard American bidding practices is the ring-around-a-rosy feature of certain bidding sequences. Each partner bids merrily along in minimums but since each bid is a force neither can stop and as the old song goes, "The bidding goes round and round—oh, oh, oh, and we go down three."

In Jacoby-Smith this does not happen. In particular, if responder has a good hand it is his duty to show it by making a strong bid at his first or second turn.

Thus, South's bid of two diamonds is not a strong bid and is decidedly not a force. With a strong two suit hand he would have jumped to three diamonds. Since the two diamond bid is not strong, North is delighted to pass. Under standard practice he would have to bid again and would be too high.

Even two diamonds is a tough contract after West opens a low diamond and all dummy's diamonds get disposed of immediately.

South's winning play after he

Chautauque Fire Fatal to Woman

FREWSBURG, N. Y. (AP) — A

45-year-old woman perished in an early morning fire today that drove two families dressed in night clothes from their home in below zero weather.

Mrs. Ruth Ellis died in the fire that destroyed the two-family home that belonged to her and her husband, Steve Ellis, 47, in this Chautauque County community.

Ellis was overcome by smoke on the roof of the house as he attempted to enter the bedroom to save his wife. He was treated and released from the W.C.A. Hospital in nearby Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Michael and their five children escaped from the ground floor apartment. Michael dumped three of his children out of a window into the snow. No one was injured.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

B of E Settles Water Meter Disagreement

NEW PALTZ — School Board met early this week and water meter problems between the Village Board and the School Board were solved. The School Board has decided to purchase a water meter to cost $170 to verify the flow of water at the school as it feels that in the past the water bills have been too high.

John Ashton Jr., president of the School Board, read excerpts from a list of proposed bills to come before the legislature which, if passed, would affect the board.

A letter was read by Frank Hamilton from the state department stating that the school districts are prohibited from paying their electric bills a year in advance in order to obtain a discount. There had been a suggestion to this effect in the past.

Another letter also advised the board that the school employees cannot be covered by disability insurance on the school property.

If the board can get permission from the owner of the land, Hamilton stated that Isaac Pole, superintendent of highways, is willing to clear a 10-foot space for a bus to turn around at the end of the Plutarch Road.

Hamilton also showed a sample stair tread for the purpose of adding new treads to the school's stairways. This type would cost about $3,000 for 83 steps, but the board felt this cost was too high.

At the suggestion of Mrs. John Jacobson, each board member agreed to contribute 50 cents toward an art material present for Carl Toboika who made the excellent posters for the bond issue vote on the two new schools.

Frederick Dippel, supervising principal, said the American Association of School Administrators meeting would be held in Philadelphia March 25 through 28.

Other board members present were Gerald DuBois, Charles Van Alst, George Langwick, Richard Fall, and Walter Dyer.

Planning Board Names Millham to Vacancy
Schuler Millham was appointed to the Planning Board to fill the unexpired term of John Thoben at the recent meeting of the board. Benjamin Matteson Jr., replaced Thoben in the interim. Millham's term will expire in December 1962.

The board also appointed George Bond, a member of the Town Zoning Board of Appeals, to fill the unexpired term of Merton DePuy who resigned recently. Bond's term will expire in May 1964.

The board has also reappointed Leonard Newkirk a constable without pay.

Thirteen Received At Reformed Church
The following new members were received into the fellowship of New Palts Reformed Church last Sunday: Mrs. Catherine Bogie, Mrs. James Gray, Mr. and Mrs. John Edobols, Miss Jean Nydegger, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Peterson, Mrs. Kenneth Robinson, Miss Marie Robinson, Mrs. Charles Still, Mrs. Charles Wooster, and Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Roehrs.

Mrs. Irving Feldman, a member of the Education Committee of the Ulster County Mental Hygiene Association, discussed careers in mental health at a meeting of the members of the junior and senior classes of New Palts Central High School Wednesday, according to Thomas Benenati, guidance director.

Dr. Eugene Link, professor of social sciences at the college, who also joined the discussion, introduced Mrs. Feldman.

Local Grangers Attend Two-Day Syracuse Parley

Three Ulster County Grangers attended the New York State Grange's 1961 "Grass Roots" legislative program at Syracuse on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 13 and 14. Grange leaders from throughout the state attended the session, which was the 11th annual meeting.

Those attending the session from Ulster County were Mrs. Frank Elliott of New Palts, chairman of the State S. and H. Committee, and Daniel Morehouse of Lake Katrine, chairman of the Ulster County Legislative Committee and Mrs. Morehouse.

Plan Local Sessions
The county leaders now plan conferences with their local state legislators in behalf of Grange recommendations in the field of agriculture, conservation, education, taxation, public welfare, roads and transportation.

The annual two-day Legislative Conference at the Hotel Syracuse was attended by Pomona Grange Masters and legislative chairmen representing 56 counties and officers and department heads of the state's oldest and largest farm organization. Kenneth B. Fake, Cobleskill, the Grange legislative representative presided.

The Grange 1961 program includes calls for action on resolutions originated in the different counties and which were adopted at the 88th annual session of the State Grange which was held in Watertown in October 1960.

Wickham Is Speaker
Speakers who addressed the conference were John A. Stone, assistant commissioner, Department of Agriculture and Markets, speaking on "Working With State Committees."

Dr. Morris M. Cohn, engineering consultant, Temporary State Commission of Water Resources, "Water Resources — Everyone's Challenge."

The main speaker was Don J. Wickham, commissioner, Department of Agriculture and Markets, State of New York.

Swift Vote
Nations, said the new President had "reaffirmed our dedication to our own freedom and to freedom around the world."

Morse Opposes Move
Kennedy sent the formal nominations for his 10 cabinet members and that of Stevenson to the Senate shortly after he took the presidential oath. Republicans were amused that a White House clerk forgetfully had stamped their copies with the signature of the retiring president, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As he had done before, Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., objected to action on the appointments until reports could be made available by committees which held advance hearings on the nominations.

Mansfield called the Senate into a morning session with the assurance the reports were ready. All 10 Cabinet appointees and Stevenson, who will have cabinet rank, have won the informal approval of the committees.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who took the oath minutes before Kennedy, was ready to preside over the session.

W THE Service
Headed for Alaska

Army Pfc. James M. Lawler, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lawler, Gardiner, is scheduled to participate with other personnel from the 82nd Airborne Division's 187th Infantry in Exercise Willow Freeze, a cold weather operation in Alaska, Feb. 9-18.

The 10-day maneuver will provide training of the 82nd Airborne, a major Strategic Army Corps (STRAC) unit, in the reinforcement of the Alaskan Command by air movement from the continental United States. The exercise will emphasize STRAC's ability to maintain an immediate readiness for airborne deployment to any area of the world.

In preparation for the exercise members of the division are receiving training in cold weather operations and technical service problems, plus instruction in tactical skills and techniques including skiing, concealment, weapons operation, and fire and movement.

Pfc. Lawler, a driver in the 187th's Headquarters Company, entered the Army in January 1960 and received basic combat training at Fort Dix, N. J.

The 19-year-old soldier attended New Palts Central High School.

Crego Completes Course
NEW LONDON — Howard L. Crego, engineman fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Crego of Lincoln Park, completed the six-month Basic Nuclear Power Class, Dec. 22, at the Naval Submarine Base, New London, Conn.

Nicoletti in Texas
Anthony Nicoletti, aviation machinist's mate third class, USN, of Albany Avenue extension, is serving with Training Squadron 30 at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Tex.

Ex-President Back on Farm

Eisenhowers Settle Down In First Private Home

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Dwight and Mamie Eisenhower, out of the White House less than a day, settled down today in the first private home they have ever known.

Throughout their married life, the Eisenhowers have always lived at temporary addresses. Some of them have been excellent ones, such as 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D. C., Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe, and the President's Residence, Columbia University.

Home Now Waiting

But wherever they have lived in the past, the Eisenhowers always knew a moving day would come.

Now, regardless of how far they may travel, an attractive white brick and fieldstone house with 14 bedrooms and 8 baths will always be home.

The Eisenhowers bought their farm on the edge of the Gettysburg Battlefield in 1950 and immediately began renovating the ancient house. The renovation was completed in 1955 at a cost of some $150,000. They spent their first night there in March, 1955.

James C. Hagerty, who served as Eisenhower's press secretary during his eight years in the White House, told newsmen that "This is the first private house the President and Mrs. Eisenhower have ever known, and there will be no inspection of the house now or ever."

Most of the information the public has gotten about the Eisenhower home has come from persons who have been guests there.

Overlooks Battlefield

A glassed-in sun porch overlooks the Civil War battlefield. Some of the world's leading figures have chatted with Eisenhower there.

Another item is a white marble mantle in the living room. It was installed in the White House in 1854 and removed during the administration of Chester Arthur. Located in a second-hand store several years ago, the White House staff bought it and presented it to the Eisenhowers on their 38th wedding anniversary.

An indication of the feeling the Eisenhowers have about their home is the fact that he will not have an office there. Instead, he is setting up an office in a house on the campus of Gettysburg College.

Big Welcome Tonight

The Eisenhowers reached home at 3:52 p.m. Friday after an automobile trip of two hours and 22 minutes from Washington, for the first time without a Secret Service and police escort.

Roads made hazardous by the heavy snow, a stop to take off chains, and several slow-downs to acknowledge greetings from roadside wellwishers accounted for the longer than usual travel time.

Gettysburgers, who in the past have respected the Eisenhower's wish for privacy, will give them a "welcome home" tonight.

They will be guests at a dinner at the Hotel Gettysburg. Since only about 200 tickets are available, there will be a public ceremony on the town square before the dinner.
